

Fullbright Hurls Six Charges At Sen. McCarthy

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — Sen. Fullbright (D-Ark.) hurled six charges—including an allegation of a $10,000 "shakedown" of a housing corporation—at Sen. McCarthy today as the Senate ploughed through some seven hours of argument without a decision on a move to censure the Wisconsin Republican.

Fullbright moved to meet vehement objections from a number of senators that the resolution of condemnation of McCarthy's conduct, offered by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), lacked a bill of particulars.

It was a day in which foes of McCarthy lambasted him, and other senators, including Sen. Daniel (D-Tex.), objected that the backers of the Flanders move were trying to do to McCarthy what they accuse him of doing to others—condemning people without fair procedure.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) called the Flanders resolution an "utterly improper approach and unbecomable."

In early evening the Senate recessed until noon, Monday. Today's debate never reached the peaks of emotion and tension scaled last night. McCarthy himself was absent much of the time. And crowds had dwindled to the point where there were big clumps of empty seats in the galleries.

Fullbright offered amendments to the Flanders resolution covering each of his six charges. He said he would demand a vote on each. The other five were that McCarthy:

1. Denounced a Senate subcommittee that investigated his affairs and "conspicuously refused to comply with its request" that he testify.

2. Openly invited and urged government employees to violate the law and their oaths of office before a nationwide television audience. This was a reference to McCarthy's statement at the Army-McCarthy hearings that it was the duty of government workers to supply him with confidential information.

3. Strongly implied in public hearings of his own subcommittee that Annie Lee Moss, an employee of the Pentagon, "was known to be a member of the Communist party and that if she testified she would perjure herself" — before he had given her a chance to testify.

4. Impugned the "loyalty, patriotism and character" of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, another witness at McCarthy hearings on alleged communism in the Army.

5. In a June 15, 1951, without proof or other justification, made an unwarranted attack upon Gen. George C. Marshall.

6. McCarthy got in a fee for the Luster Corp. housing concern. It was for a booklet in housing. A Senate subcommittee declared (Continued on Fifth Page)

11 Persons Die In Flaming Car As Brakes Fail

WHITESBURG, Ky., July 31 (AP) — Eleven persons burned to death today when their 1941 automobile, its brakes gone, struck a cliff on Pine Mountain and caught fire.

Only the driver, Hixie Maxie, 33, escaped. His wife and three children were among the victims.

Also trapped in the vehicle were Maxie's sister, Mrs. Lue Brown, 30, her husband, Tom, their four children and a neighbor, Martha Gibson, 15.

The accident occurred eight miles south of this Letcher County community in southeastern Kentucky shortly after the families left their homes at Millstone to visit the mine where Maxie and Brown worked.

En route to a Fleming, Ky., hospital, Maxie said his brakes failed after he had gone over the top of the mountain and he was unable to avoid crashing into a cliff. He said the car evidently became overheated by the long pull up the steep grade and the gasoline tank burst into flames immediately after the impact.

Maxie, his clothing burned away, was hauled at the wreckage with an ax when rescuers arrived. He was unable to say how he escaped from the car. Maxie was reported in serious condition from burns over most of his body.

At a Whitesburg funeral home, the other dead were identified as: Mrs. Elsie Maxie, 21, her 5-year-old son, Bobby Ray, 4, Betty Sue, 5, and a third child about 3. The Brown children killed were: Shirley Jean, 6, Christine, 9, Hayden, 5, and Geraldine, 2.

Ike Endorses Vast Military Reserve Setup

National Guard
Would Be Used To Provide Training

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — A sweeping new military manpower plan aimed at military duty for "all qualified young men," followed by compulsory service in a new reserve set-up, has been approved by the Eisenhower administration. The object is to prepare the nation for any possible war with Russia.

"The whole thing is geared to the day of active war with the Soviet Union," said Asst. Secretary of Defense John A. Hannah in explaining the policy approved by the National Security Council this week for submission to Congress early next year.

"Everyone up to the President," Hannah said, "agrees that we must have an effective reserve to meet the requirements of war with the Soviets." Hannah added: "And that is the only way that counts."

Hannah disclosed the new military program on his last day at the Pentagon, after serving for 18 months as assistant secretary for manpower and personnel. Next week he will resume the presidency of Michigan State College.

The reserve scheme, which Hannah said would have to operate before the current selective service law expires next April, is the newest approach to a form of universal military training. Actually it would go beyond some training proposals of the past, Hannah pointed out, because the National Security Council in approving it stated one of the objectives was: "All qualified young men will be required to serve... a minimum period as members of one of the armed services." The administration's top policy making body said also that all qualified young men who "do not enlist in a service of their choice, will be induced."

Hannah read from an official document classified "secret." As he talked to newsmen in his office, he declassified the paper by the simple expedient of cutting off the word "secret" with a pair of scissors.

Whether Congress would go along with the plan is a question. It has been cool to UMT in the past.

The program, as Hannah outlined it, would abolish the Army and Air Force reserve organizations as they now exist and make the National Guard, now under state control except in time of war, "the National Guard of the United States for all practical purposes," Hannah declared.

2 Teenage Negro Boys Face Chair

BATON ROUGE, July 31 (AP) — Two teenage Negro boys face death in the electric chair after a 12-man jury brought in a guilty verdict early today in the aggravated rape of a young Baker mother.

A packed courtroom hushed into silence as the jury, after an hour and a half of deliberation, brought in its verdict shortly after midnight.

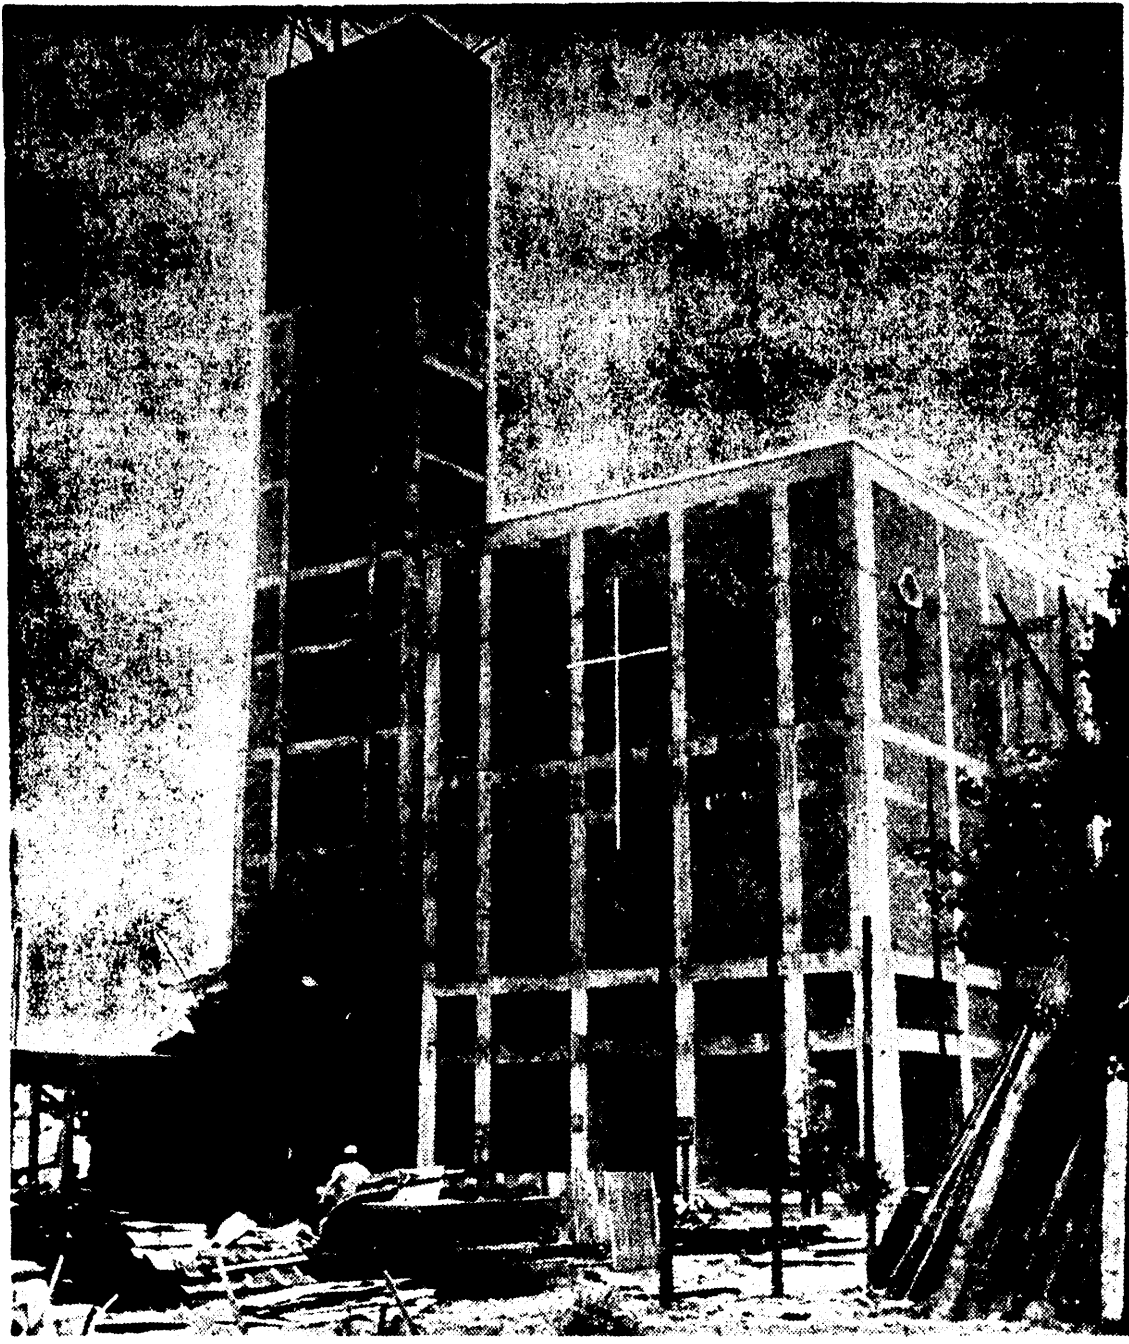

Judge Coleman Lindsey adjourned the court shortly after the verdict but can reconvene it at any time to pass sentence.

The two-month summer recess began today.

A spokesman for District Attorney J. St. Clair Favrot said the guilty as charged verdict, made without recommendation, meant mandatory death in the electric chair for Wilbert Smith, 16, and Carl Jackson, 15.

The two are accused of raping the young mother in the presence of her three small children after escaping from the state Industrial School for Colored Youth in nearby Scotlandville.

The woman testified they forced their way into her home on pretense of asking for a glass of water. When refused, she told the court in muffled sobs, they dragged her into a bedroom and attacked her.

PEACE CHURCH RISES AT HIROSHIMA—This giant modernistic "World Church of Peace," under construction at Hiroshima, Japan, will be consecrated on Aug. 3, the ninth anniversary of the atom blast which wrecked the city. Moving spirit behind the project is Rev. Hugo Lassalle, Roman Catholic priest, whose original church on the same site was blasted by the world's first tactical atom bomb. Democratic County Nominees Are Disqualified Phenix City Mayor Jailed On Charge He Wilfully Neglected Duty, Failed To Enforce Law In Vice-Ridden City

PHENIX CITY, Ala., July 31 (AP) — The vice purge in tainted Phenix City swept Mayor Reese into jail today and brought a call to an emergency grand jury to reconvene Aug. 9 and start taking testimony about racketeering in this playground of sin.

Mayor Reese was awakened at 2 a.m. in a Birmingham hotel and returned immediately to Phenix City to face three charges of wilful neglect of duty.

He was locked up in the Russell County Jail under bond of $1,000 on each of three counts and had to wait for Sheriff Ralph Mathews to return from Birmingham before bond could be arranged.

Although Mathews has been stripped of all law enforcement power and his duties taken over by National Guard officers under limited martial law, he is still the official designate to approve bonds in the series of arrests which have accompanied the widespread gambling raids in and near Phenix City.

The mayor, the sheriff and Circuit Solicitor Arch Ferrell had gone to Birmingham to attend today's meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee where the recent renominations of Mathews and Ferrell were under contest.

Reese, 48-year-old druggist and veteran of many years in political office, was charged with wilfully neglecting to perform his duties to enforce the laws against gambling.

Raising National Guardsmen and highway patrolmen have seized huge piles of slot machines, lottery tickets and other gambling devices in the past six weeks.

Mayor Reese is the first public official to be jailed directly as a result of the anti-racket cleanup although Ferrell and Atty. Gen. St. Garrett are under indictment on vote fraud charges in Birmingham which have been linked to Phenix City.

The grand jury was empaneled earlier this month to hear evidence of racketeering in Phenix City and to investigate the six-week-old slaying of anti-vice crusader A. L. Patterson who was to have been Alabama's next attorney general.

A union press agent doubted that the strike would spread, however, to United Airlines or Trans World Airlines which also fly cross country trips.

He explained that those two lines schedule their flights for seven hours and 55 minutes of flight "although they seldom make it in that time" and pilots receive overtime for additional time in flight.

Neither side could say when negotiations would be resumed to end the dispute but the union spokesman said the strike could terminate abruptly if the cross-country flights were speeded to less than eight hours, abandoned, or rescheduled them to permit a change of crews at a point such as Chicago.

Detectives Quiz Dr. Sheppard In Slaying Of Wife

Young Osteopath
Pleads Innocent
When Arraigned

CLEVELAND, July 31 (AP) — Detectives today started intensive questioning of Dr. Samuel Sheppard, handsome 30-year-old osteopath charged with beating his pregnant wife to death.

Dr. Sheppard, wearing blue denim prison pants and a white T-shirt, was advised in his jail cell "not to talk to anyone but his attorney."

The advice came from William Corrigan, defense lawyer who rejected a police proposal Dr. Sheppard be given a physical examination before the questioning.

Corrigan said the examining physicians would be "medical ones and Dr. Sam is an osteopath and he would not be able to get a fair examination from them."

Detectives started their questioning shortly after noon only to be interrupted by Corrigan who got a pass to visit his client and kept policemen from the doctor, at least temporarily.

Dr. Sheppard pleaded innocent last night when he was arrested, 26 days after coming Mrs. Marilyn Sheppard's body was found on a blood-soaked bed in their lakefront home in suburban Bay Village.

Since then the investigation—Cleveland's most sensational in decades — has involved Susan Hayes, a 24-year-old hospital technician quoted by Prosecutor Frank Cullinan as admitting she was intimate with the doctor.

Dr. Sheppard was arrested at his father's home near Bay View Hospital where he, two brothers and the father all practice. Miss Hayes worked there at one time.

Taken to the village's Council Hall, Dr. Sheppard was arraigned before acting Mayor Gershon Barber who set next day as the day for a preliminary hearing on the first-degree murder charge.

Corrigan filed a writ of habeas corpus this morning, contending Barber who issued the arrest warrant did not have jurisdiction. The writ will be heard Monday.

Barber acted for Mayor J. Spencer Houk, a neighbor and friend of the doctor who is expected to be a witness.

Houk is the man Dr. Sheppard called early the morning of July 4 to report Mrs. Sheppard was dead.

No weapon has been found. Police noted the Sheppard's 6-year-old son, Chip, had slept through the killing and that the family dog, Koko, did not bark, at least not loud enough to arouse neighbors.

Detectives speculate the weapon may have been a No. 9 iron missing from Mrs. Sheppard's golf bag. She was hit 27 cutting blows on the head.

The husband testified to Coroner Samuel Gerbert his relations with Miss Hayes were "casual." Later (Continued on Second Page)

British Detain Vessel Carrying Fugitive Cort

LONDON, July 31 (AP) — A Polish stowaway seeking asylum in Britain was removed by British police tonight from a Polish freighter where American scientist Joseph Cort and his wife awaited departure for political asylum in Red Czechoslovakia.

The police also brought ashore another man. He was not identified immediately.

The haggard stowaway, who had been reported starving, was brought off the ship just before midnight.

High-ranking British police officials had argued with the Polish ship captain for 35 minutes before he was taken off.

The stowaway, Antoni Klimowicz, 24, and the unidentified man were brought ashore in one of 10 police launches that had circled the Polish ship all evening.

Police squads lined the jetty as the launch approached. The blue-faced Klimowicz, wearing a thin muffer, marched with the other man to a police station under close guard.

The Royal Navy alerted a destroyer to stand by the Polish ship during the night.

Chinaxing a day of feverish British-Polish maneuvering over the stowaway's fate, the Lord Chief Justice of England, Lord Goddard, ordered the ship's captain to produce the haggard refugee from communism in an English court next Tuesday.

The Home Office said the 3,219-ton freighter Jaro-law Dahrowa was free to sail away with Cort at once if her master surrendered Antoni Klimowicz, 24.

Soon after the Lord Chief Justice acted, police sent more boats to keep the ship at anchor in the Thames River until Klimowicz is turned over.

Britain, which refused asylum for Cort, the 26-year-old self-styled ex-Communist physicist from Boston, Mass., clearly wanted an opportunity to grant asylum to the Pole.

A Home Office spokesman refused to say why Klimowicz was wanted in court. He said he could not discuss a case that was "sub-judice" (in process of law).

But J. A. Jaxa, attorney for the anti-Communist Polish Ex-Combatants' Assn., said no reason was needed when it appeared that a man was being held against his own will.

"I hope to find work in a university in Prague on scientific and research work," Cort said last night in a shipboard interview.

Cort's 28-year-old wife, Ruth, a physician, went aboard with him. For two years Cort has been a lecturer in physiology at Birmingham University and his wife has been a house physician at Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Birmingham.

Cort's permit to remain here expired today. Scotland Yard said it had no interest in him now that he was leaving the country.

Move Intended To Discourage Incipient War

Unarmed Country
In Hot Dispute
With Nicaragua

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — The United States today rushed six Air Force planes to Costa Rica as troops and armored vehicles from neighboring Nicaragua made a show of strength near Costa Rica's border.

The two Central American republics have been quarreling for months. Recently each has accused the other of acts of violence along their common frontier.

Informed quarters said it appeared the Washington government's action in sending the planes was to serve two purposes: 1. A measure of reassurance to the people of Costa Rica, which for years has had no army; and, 2. to tell Nicaragua and anybody else interested that no trouble is wanted in Central America.

The Air Force called the flight a "good will" mission and as if to emphasized United States neutrality in the dispute, it announced the planes may go later on to other countries in that area.

Only yesterday the State Department called on both Costa Rica and Nicaragua to keep the peace. Lincoln White, a department press officer, said the United States is following the situation "with particular interest in the maintenance of peace and good relations in that area. We are confident that the two governments will work out their differences."

For days, it has been rumored that the United States was acting as mediator between the two countries, and had appealed to ambassadors of both nations here to tell their governments to do everything possible to settle their dispute.

Last April Nicaragua announced that a band of men, coming from Costa Rica, had tried to assassinate President Anastasio Somoza, veteran dictator of Nicaragua. Last week Costa Rica announced that minor uprisings against its government and President Jose Figueres, by a band coming from Nicaragua, had likewise failed.

Somoza moved troops to the border, he said, to "protect Nicaragua's territory" after Nicaragua charged that Costa Rican border guards fired on a Nicaraguan plane.

Tunisia Offered Complete Control Of Home Affairs

TUNIS, Tunisia, July 31 (AP) — Premier Pierre Mendes — France walked through a corridor of troops into the palace of the Bey of Tunis today and told him internal sovereignty was his for the asking but that Tunisians had better quit shooting at Frenchmen.

It was another dramatic hour for France's protector of 50 years.

A little over a week to be negotiated a cease-fire in Tunisia. Today he arrived in Tunis, another sure spot on the French body politic.

In the blazing heat of the North African sun he reviewed a few troops and, with Marshal Alphonse Juin at his side, drove to ancient Carthage, where the Bey, Sir Mohamed Al Amin, lives in gold and tapestried splendor.

Clearly determined that Tunis should not become another Indo-China, the Premier told the elderly Bey that France is ready quickly to transfer to Tunisia—after three (Continued on Second Page)

Cattlemen Of LaSalle To Meet Monday

JENA, July 31 (Special) — Officers for the coming year will be elected Monday night, when the LaSalle parish Open Range Cattlemen's association meets. It has been announced by Ejan Andrews, president.

In addition to election of new officers, the cattlemen will discuss the new stock laws and fencing regulations which were passed at the recent session of the state legislature.

In this connection, Lloyd Thompson, president of the parish police jury, has indicated that the police jury probably will make application at an early date for matching funds from the state to fence the highways in LaSalle parish which will be affected by the new laws.

Recruits Sought Here For WAC

The Women's Army Corps is now wide open to enlistments. Lt. Laverne Wachuta, Wac Procurement Officer for North Louisiana, said this week.

The lieutenant, who will be in Monroe Tuesday and Wednesday to interview and test applicants for the WAC, explained that there are numerous technical schools now open, where WAC's may learn an occupation, which will enable a woman to qualify for a good paying job in civilian life.

"In the WAC," Lt. Wachuta continued, "a woman not only serves her country, but receives benefits unequalled in comparable civilian jobs. In addition to room and board, a WAC receives free medical and dental care, a paid $10,000 life insurance policy, clothing allowances, travel, and comradeship, which will live on long after the woman has completed her enlistment."

All women interested in enlistment in the WAC should contact Lt. Wachuta at the U. S. Army Recruiting Station, Room 217, Post Office Building, or by calling 8570.

Commander Root Lauds Guardsmen At Meeting Here

Addressing the officers of the third battalion, 199th Infantry Regiment, National Guard, Bert Root, Commander of L. B. Faulk, Post 13, American Legion, last night complimented the battalion on its fine record at summer camp last year, and encouraged them to repeat last year's performance.

During the 1953 two-weeks session at Camp Polk, the third battalion won top honors in the Thirtieth Division, composed of Arkansas and Louisiana National Guard units, for all-around performance at the summer camp.

Speaking at the battalion officers' annual pre-camp banquet, Root commended the officers and enlisted men not only for giving time each week to drill periods, but for the sacrifice they make by spending two weeks in summer camp each year, to put into practice what they have learned during the previous year.

Root's talk was punctuated by a series of anecdotes about the army and life in his home town.

Other guests of honor at the annual affair included Brigadier General George W. Trousdale and Mayor John E. Coon.

The third battalion, composed of units in Monroe, Bastrop, Farmerville, and Ruston, will leave August 8 for the two-weeks annual encampment at Camp Polk.

Wm. G. Taggart To Be Honored By LSU Faculty

BATON ROUGE July 31 —UP—William G. Taggart, director of the Louisiana State University agricultural experiment station, will receive a certificate of recognition for his 48 years of service during summer commencement exercises Aug. 6.

Taggart, who is retiring along with nine other LSU faculty members, will receive the rank of director emeritus.

Three others retire with the rank of professor emeritus. They are Miss Hazel Anna Baker, home economics professor with 30 years service; Mrs. Fadra Holmes Wilson, education and psychology, 21 years; and Dr. John Marshall Nason, general extension division, 18 years.

Claude B. Gouaux, agronomist with the agricultural experiment station, and Christopher B. Haddon, agronomist and superintendent of the Northeast Louisiana experiment station, will retire as agronomist emeritus with 25 and 33 years service.

Others to receive certificates are John R. Shoptaugh, assistant professor of education, 35 years service; Miss Gladys Tappan, district agent in the agricultural extension division, 21 years service; and James Milton Baker, associate professor and associate agricultural economist, 17 years service.

Demo Committee Canvases Returns Of July Primary

Meeting at noon yesterday the Ouachita Parish Democratic Executive Committee received and approved the tabulation of returns of the Democratic primary election held July 27.

The canvass and tabulation of the returns resulted as follows: For Judge of the City Court of Monroe, Wards three and 10: Will M. Harper, being unopposed, was declared to be the Democratic nominee for the office.

For Monroe City Marshal, Wards three and 10: Frank V. Reitzell, being unopposed, was declared to be the Democratic nominee for that office.

For Judge of the City Court of West Monroe, Ward Five: Ollie C. Carter, 331; R. D. Carter 123; L. A. Harris, 420; A. Grayson Hicks, 1279; Pete O. Holcomb, 1227; W. E. Laurence, 659; James E. Martin, 271; Roy Steele, 331, and S. E. Wall, 243.

None of the candidates having received a majority, Hicks and Holcomb were declared to be candidates for the nomination in the second primary.

Candidates for the Ouachita Parish School Board from Ward three and the number of votes received were C. E. Buckley, 1210; Al Newburn, 697, and W. G. Worley, 840. None of the candidates having received a majority of the votes, C. E. Buckley and W. G. Worley were declared to be candidates for nomination in the second primary.

For School board, in Ward five Walter Bennett received 1090 votes; Harold D. Cannon, 662; Ed Hishop, Jr., 1128; Joe E. Johnson, 275; S. Curtis Shell, 1053, and Floyd A. Temple, 568. None of the candidates having received a majority, Hishop and Cannon were declared to be candidates for the nomination in the second primary.

Richard Weygant, attorney for Bay Village, in asking the warrant said the "evidence which I have reviewed is of such weight that in my opinion there is probable cause to believe Dr. Sam Sheppard guilty of the murder of his wife and I believe that his arrest should be made."

Weygant made his recommendation after talking to Cleveland Police Chief Frank Story who told reporters there was enough evidence for an arrest but that he could not guarantee a conviction.

Proposed Amendment On Bond Issues Defective, PAR Official Declares

BATON ROUGE, July 31—UP—The bulk of the bills—703 of them—became effective at noon Wednesday, 20 days after the end of the session. But one of the most strongly opposed bills, the so-called Jefferson Lake sulphur bill, already has landed in court and another appears destined to.

This is the proposed amendment to the constitution to require that all future bond issues be submitted to the people for a vote.

Edward J. Steimel, assistant executive director of the Public Affairs Research Council, has warned that the state might get itself into serious trouble if the amendment is approved.

The controversial sulphur bill, to appropriate $897,465 to pay a long-standing judgment against the state held by the sulphur company, technically became law on Wednesday noon. But before the old debt can be settled, a "taxpayer's suit" filed by a former East Baton Rouge representative must be settled in court.

James A. McCurnin Sr. has asked for a preliminary injunction against the state auditor and state treasurer to stop payment on grounds that the act is unconstitutional, for several reasons. The principal one of these is that the Jefferson Lake claim has long passed the prescription period which McCurnin's suit claims ended in 1945.

A hearing is set in district court here Oct. 4. The act specifies that half of the payment must be made in the calendar year 1954 and half in 1955.

Steimel, addressing a Shreveport civic club, said PAR in studying the proposed constitutional amendment on the issuance of bonds has found it eliminates two of the present safeguards against disposal of state property.

One of these prevents the Legislature from selling water bottoms of any navigable stream or other body of water. The other requires the state to maintain mineral rights on any property it sells.

Steimel said the Legislature omitted the safeguards "apparently as an oversight." But he found the amendment objectionable for other reasons:

1. It prohibits the Legislature from incurring debt.
2. It would accomplish three purposes, rather than the legal limit of one per amendment.

In addition to requiring that all future bond issues be submitted to the people, the amendment if adopted also would specifically exempt the $50 million highway bond issue and the $42 million institutions issue approved this year and would further, in effect, ratify the issues and remove all doubt as to their legality.

There has been some speculation here that a court suit might be filed to prevent this amendment from being submitted to the people. Just where this action would leave the bond issues is another good point for speculation.

The World Council Of Churches—Some Conclusions

The Morning World has editorially commented on the coming meeting of the World Council of Churches in the past four issues. The WCC is scheduled to meet in the near future in Evanston, Illinois. Unfortunately, there will be Communist ministers present and they will be given the opportunity to "voice their religious views."

The Morning World believes that these men should not be admitted on several grounds. First, they are agents of a foreign power. Second, they are Russian propagandists. Third, they are false ministers and fourth, they will make the meeting in Evanston, already loaded with "new thought ministers," a mere mouthpiece for the Soviet Union.

It is impossible to compare Christianity with Marxism. The two are not compatible in any form. One represents the dignity and the soul of mankind, while the other represents the scientific application of dialectical materialism as regards the human race. It holds that there is no religion, hence, no moral law and certainly no God and Christ. Yet, many of these ministers attempt to tell the American people that certain aspects of Christianity and Communism are indeed, compatible.

The Communists are a new religion. They are more than a political party. As a new religion, the Communist church seeks to destroy the Christians and the Jews as religious forces. They have to, if they are to succeed. The Communists celebrated their success in Russia by the statement that, "we have dethroned the earthy Czars, now, we shall destroy the heavenly ones."

Consider the Ten Great Commandments of God. How do the Communists feel?

The first great Commandment says: I am the Lord thy God; thou shalt have no other gods before me. The Communists say that Marx and Lenin are the gods.

The second Commandment says: Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image or any likeness of anything that is in the heaven. Thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them. The Communists have mummified the body of Lenin and Stalin and these are glorified as the Gods of Communism and are on display in Moscow. The Russians are told to revere them.

Commandment three says: Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord, thy God in vain. Besobozhnik, the famous Communist doctrinary writer asserted that, "the very first and wickedest moonshiner is named Jesus Christ."

Commandment four states: Remember the sabbath to keep it holy. The law of the Soviet Union and other Marxist states suppresses the Saturdays and Sundays as religious days.

The fifth great Commandment of God states: Honor thy father and thy mother. Lenin stated emphatically, "children must be taught to hate their parents."

Commandment six holds specifically: Thou shalt not kill. Lenin said, "Dictatorship is a government resting directly on violence."

The seventh Commandment reads: Thou shalt not commit adultery. The Soviet law on marriage specifically states that the family and marriage code abolished the terms "out of wedlock" and "illegitimate child."

Commandment eight is: Thou shalt not steal. Stalin said in agreement with Marx, "All means are justified."

The ninth Commandment says: Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor. Lenin said, "adopt all possible tricks, dodges and illegal methods of concealing the truth."

The last great Commandment states: Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, servants or goods. The Communists hold that, "the freedom of relations between the sexes does not contradict the ideology of Communism."

Is it possible that the Commandments of God can compare with those of the Communists? The Morning World does not believe so. Nor does it concur with the idea that Christian concepts of fairness and decency are in the main, to be considered as "social" or Communist. It does not believe that Jesus can be compared with Marx as some "new" theologians presently would have you believe.

THE WORLD COUNCIL OF CHURCHES, IF IT IS TO SUCCEED, SHOULD ATTACK IN A FERCE MANNER, ALL FORMS OF COMMUNISM, MARXISM, SOCIALISM AND ALLIED PHILOSOPHIES. UNLESS IT DOES SO, IT WILL BE RENDERING A GREAT DISSERVICE TO THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES AND TO CHRISTIANS THE WORLD OVER WHILE RENDERING A GREAT SERVICE TO THE COMMUNISTS WHO WILL USE IT AS A SOUNDINGBOARD.

In the United States, there are Communist organizations set up to sponsor the cause of atheism. The Jefferson school of Social Science in New York, the California Labor School, The People's Institute of Applied Religion in Birmingham, Alabama, the Methodist Federation of Social Action. (ABSOLUTELY NOT AN ORGANIZATION OF THE METHODIST CHURCH) and the magazine entitled, "The Protestant." These sources are attempting to spread the idea that Communist ideas can be Christian ideas. The "Protestant" seeks to build a bridge between Christianity and Communism. It has widely praised the WCC.

Thus, the picture emerges. The World Council of Churches formed of a majority of men who honestly desire peace and good will for all mankind, will be used by a group of people calling themselves "ministers." For, if a man is a Communist, it is impossible for him to be a minister of Christianity. It is impossible for him to be a servant of God and a servant of the Devil at the same time.

The challenge of these days is the fact that many people do not yet realize that they are dealing not with a mere political organization, but with a vibrant philosophy which teaches that evil is good as long as it helps the final end. Dealing in the "logical thing to do," it teaches that Christians are to be used to destroy their own religion just as Americans are to be used in the destruction of their own national and constitutional laws.

The scope and the size of the giant conspiracy is yet to be realized by the American people or many people throughout the world. Until the ministers of all churches can understand that once again, they must fight for the church even as did the Crusaders, they can never be the bastion of the free world they are supposed to be. Only through the Churches of God can there be victory in the never ending war against a merciless foe which uses any means to attain its objective.

If the World Council of Churches is indeed the organization of "peace" through Jesus Christ which it claims it is, it must name the false ministers in its midst and cast them out. It must stand up for the Church of Christ against a foe even now, planning to destroy it and all its followers. It must warn the people of the world against this new religion which seeks to capture men's minds to twist and distort, to ruin and despoil and finally, to eliminate the Church of God as the bulwark of good on the face of the earth.

This is a fight to the finish, this battle against scientific collectivism, and the faster every American, including G. Bromley Oxnam and his followers, realize it, the better off they will be.

The challenge of the times is simple: stop attempting to favorably compare the Prince of Peace with a cruel murderer and begin to teach the people of the world that Jesus Christ is their savior and their strength.

Until this is accomplished, there can be no peace, only turmoil.

Motor Scooters And The Proper Handling Of Them

Last week, during an afternoon thundershower, a member of the staff of the Morning World happened to be driving downtown from the Northside of the City. To be specific, the staffer was turning onto Park Avenue from Barbary street. The rain was giving all indications of forcefulness when two motorbikes shot by on Park Avenue heading apparently toward Riverside Drive.

The intersection is dangerous to begin with as doubled Marie Place ends at that point and therefore, traffic from five directions filters into the spot.

In any case, the rider of a blue machine, attempting to avoid an automobile entering Park from Marie Place and making a right turn onto the thoroughfare, took a bad skid. His hurtling machine took him so close to destruction as to scratch the side of the turning automobile. It was the nearest thing to a calamity seen in many hours in the Twin Cities.

Motorbikes are useful machines. They get you where you want to go in the least expensive manner. Operated carefully and with safety in mind, they are perhaps as safe as the next conveyance. However, such is not the ordinary case.

Many drivers, or riders (whatever the case may be) of the motor scooters, and motorbikes apparently have the idea that they are contestants in the Indianapolis Speedway or the Daytona Beach Classic. Some of the older, and perhaps more experienced riders, believing that they are infallible, don strange caps which are strapped to their heads in a curious manner, dotted with chromium and emblazoned with wings across the front, and make a simple, level, Monroe street into the Mexican road-race.

Is it possible that the wings on their caps will lift them out of the way of an oncoming automobile when they have lost control of the machines? This newspaper hardly believes so.

Then, there are the young delivery drivers who operate cargo carriers of a diminutive size. It is their job to see how low they can swing while zooming around a corner. All feel that they are alone on streets apparently empty of automobiles. There are others who ride in convoy in front of an automobile, deliberately refusing to permit the auto to pass. Others run "races" with autos and take wild chances.

The problem is getting serious here in the Twin Cities. The Monroe Police Department is well aware of the existing situation and presently operates a "training ground" for these motobike riders. The Police, both state and city, have told this newspaper that these "scooters" and bikes are motor vehicles and are supposed to be operated as such. In short, they should stay in the regular pattern of traffic.

They should not pass an automobile on either side as they frequently do.

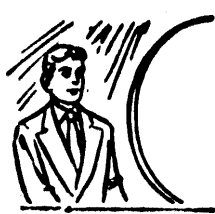

They should be equipped with mufflers and should have their brakes inspected frequently just as happens, (or should happen) to the autos. The Police both state and city, have told the Morning World that soon, a policy of "lifting" licenses will be put into effect on the lawbreakers who believe that they are apparently operating aircraft instead of motorbikes.

If that is what it takes to save lives, then, more power to the police.

A lifted license is better than a lifted scalp. (Editor's note: It was brought to the attention of the Morning World that there is a club of young motorbike operators in the Twin Cities the entire theme of which is safety and the careful handling of the machines.

The Club, (Twin City Ramblers) sponsors meets, safety drives, it cooperates fully with the Monroe Police Department and as a matter of fact, has two police officers as members of the club to help out in an advisory capacity. The President of the club hopes that all owners or riders of motorscooters or motorbikes will join the club and thus, help the Ramblers' safety campaign.

The meetings are held every Friday night in the squad-room of the police department in City Hall. Parents of the young operators are asked to urge on their youngsters the necessity of joining such an organization as the Ramblers which hopes to promote safety and careful handling of the machines.

Into The Lion's Den

Houston, Texas.

Editor, Morning World:

About twenty years ago a fond mother took her small daughter to see a painting showing the early Christian martyrs being fed to the lions in the arena at Rome. The little girl gazed at the painting for a while and then started to cry. The mother, thinking the child was sorry for the martyrs, said, "Why are you crying, dear?" The little girl replied, "Look mama, one little lion in the corner hasn't got any Christian."

Today that once little girl has grown up and she is one of those deluded Americans whose hearts bleed for the victims of that terrible character, Senator Joseph McCarthy.

Horse Power Control

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I am very concerned whether or not the Police Jury, who were elected by the people as their representatives, have the interest of the taxpayers at heart in all their deliberations and decisions.

My firm, along with five other local firms, recently submitted bids on air conditioning to the clerk's office in the court house. The bids were submitted from a rather vague, sketchy request with no specific plans or specifications of a competent engineer available to bidders.

Some $2600.00 separated the low bidder from the highest bidder. Bids based on units from 17 1/2 HP to 25 HP were submitted. Bidders were required to guarantee a 22 degree differential in temperature based on 100 degree outdoor heat.

Why then, was the highest won 22 1/2 HP of air conditioning awarded the contract when the firm with the 17 1/2 HP and the lowest bid guaranteed that differential required? Were the jurors obeying their oath of office and the laws in awarding this contract? For contrast of bids the firm which I head bid $935.00 less than the winning bidder and still offered 2 1/2 more HP. Were the jurors accepting the "lowest and best" bid? Did they award the contract on the advice of a competent air conditioning engineer?

Since all of different brands of equipment quoted by above air conditioning contractors will produce practically the same tonnage per horse power, it is evident that the firm which was awarded the contract is furnishing less tonnage at a higher price than any of the other bidders.

If the jurors award all contracts on the same basis as this job how much higher are your taxes than they would be if they followed the spirit as well as the letter of the law?

Shall we sit by and put up with this waste?

Is The President The Same General Of WW II Fame

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

As we turn back the pages of history to WW II we find names as John J. Pershing of the U. S. who refused to play second fiddle to the French army. At that time there was an officer in the French army named Petain who said, "They shall not pass." In referring to the Germans and they did not. But in WW II this same Petain was put in prison and so far as I know died there for collaborating with the Germans, which goes to prove that no human being is invincible.

In WW II when Winston Churchill became Prime Minister of England, he told the people he had something to offer them but blood, sweat and tears. That was at a time when the British freedom was at stake. But when he was elected a second time he told the world that he was not elected to liquidate the British Empire, this at a time when the small nations under British control were at stake. I think this should sum up the British policy. I believe he meant what he said both times.

When we went to Korea, we went in with full support of the U. N. we thought, to stop aggression and to reunite North and South Korea. The British and the French only furnished a few men. The British had to keep their troops in the colonies under their control or the people would gain their freedom. When the Chinese entered the war in Korea and when General MacArthur said there was no substitute for victory and was for bombing Manchuria and blockading Red China, the British would not consent for fear the Communists would attack Hong Kong, and the fact that Chiang had promised the British if he ever landed back on the mainland they would sell no more lamb chops. We can only assume that this led to the firing of General MacArthur under British pressure.

The French thought a truce in Korea would release men and material to fight in Indochina and we know now they were right. I understand that three generals said the war in Korea could be won. The question is why was it not won? We would think that Harry S. Truman and Winston Churchill could give the answer. It would appear that, we lost this war the only one we ever lost on account of British and French colonialism. Unless the U. S. can persuade the British and the French to give the people under their control their freedom, we should not support them in any way.

And until the President of these United States stops telling the world we cannot go it alone, thus causing our so-called allies to exert more pressure on us and encouraging the Communists. Instead the President might dust off a copy of our own constitution and Bill of Rights and let the world know we live by them, fight for them and die for them, and we would be happy to have any ally that is willing to bear their fair share of the burden, but no more of this Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde foreign policy. Under the influence of the British and French, who everytime they come over here come out of a meeting they are in agreement with us, but by the time they get back to London and Paris they disagree. We do not know what the agreement was in the first place.

Again we pause to wonder, is the man now President of the U. S. the same General that led the allies to victory in WW II. How different he seems to be and is his political barometer falling?

25 Cities Have Voted To End Fluoridation

Natchez, Miss.

Editor, Morning World:

May I congratulate you on mentioning in the item "Open Meeting of Fluoridation Set For August 10" that San Diego Calif., had voted to end the fluoridation of its city water supply? This is the first time I have seen mention of such action outside the local papers. You didn't say that it is the 25th city to vote. Probably you didn't know that for the AP and UP services never carry such announcements as far as I can learn and I've been watching for such announcements for the past two years.

When the Mississippi state health department gave out the announcement that "the citizens, the doctors, the dentists, the health officers, of Port Gibson, had worked to have fluoridation adopted," it appeared in a Massachusetts newspaper. As I am personally acquainted with the Mayor I investigated. Fluoridation had never been mentioned in the council and hasn't yet over a year later. The health department told the AP representative when he checked on the story that they gave out the information and that they weren't going to correct it. Neither did the AP. It seems that a county health officer had said that four members of the council had told him that it would be done. Such an incident is quite probably not unique.

You state that the American Medical Association has endorsed fluoridation. I'm enclosing a copy of that endorsement. I'd like to know what you think of it. The endorsement of the American Dental Association was put over by a small section of the association as is evidenced by the fact that so many dentists of unimpeachable integrity are working against the program in spite of the article 20 of the code of ethics of the organization which says that the members must not oppose any policy adopted by the association. How can a dental organization endorse an internal remedy? Could you in the interests of the people publish the American Medical Association endorsement? The doctors, if they read it at the time it was passed, have probably forgotten what it said.

Could you get a copy of the Rev. Lyle F. Sheen's letter to the Genesee, Ill. Republic May 27, 1954? It stopped fluoridation there. If I had a copy I'd send it to you.

H. R. 2341 which would outlaw fluoridation for the United States and its dependencies had a three day hearing May 25, 26, 27, 1954 before the Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee of the House. Both sides appeared. Have you written your congressman for a copy of the report of these hearings? The report should be ready soon.

When I write others in Monroe I'll send you copies of the letters. Yours is the first since I received the clipping mentioned.

MYRA V. SMITH

Views Of An Election Deputy

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I should like to express my opinion of the behavior of some of our voting citizens at the polls last Tuesday in the primary election. Now, please read carefully so that I may make myself clear. Keep in mind that I, as a voter, appreciate the many privileges which we as citizens of this country enjoy, one of which is the privilege of casting my vote for the candidates of my choice. Furthermore, I would urge every qualified citizen to register and exercise that privilege. On the other hand, though, the privilege of voting does not — let me emphasize NOT — carry with it the right to be disrespectful to the commissioners or deputy sheriff in charge of the polling place, or to make disparaging remarks against our public officials whose responsibility it is to prepare for our elections.

The unfortunate situation Tuesday in which many voters experienced difficulty in locating the precincts where their permanent registrations were on file brought remarks which were entirely unjustified from some voters. The necessity of some people is all too apparent when they have the temerity to make public utterances in criticism of those who are trying to the best of their ability to carry out a duty of such important civic responsibility. Let me hasten to say that the majority of those who were inconvenienced were most cooperative and courteous; however, there were those who conspicuously gave vent to their emotions in the presence of others waiting to cast their ballots. And, incidentally, after checking on some of those people, it was found that a number of them were either improperly registered or not registered at all. It has been brought to my attention that at one polling place alone over twenty people appearing to vote were not even registered.

Perhaps a word of explanation would serve to make some people ashamed of their conduct. It so happens that Mr. Burt Sperry, prominent Monroe attorney and chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee for Ouachita Parish, has worked tirelessly and without pay to make our voting easier. Also, the registrar of voters, Mrs. Mae Lucky, who came in for much adverse and unjust criticism Tuesday, has worked ceaselessly and efficiently in completing the permanent registration of over 27,000 voters in the parish. Clerk of court, R. Dean Farr, has in his usual splendid manner contributed much to voting services in the parish. Others whom I have not named have also contributed their time and effort to this program. Now, let's go back to the registrar of voters. Just a few days before Tuesday's election, and just when Mrs. Lucky had almost completed the permanent registration records it became necessary as a result of inaugurating the use of voting machines to reduce the number of voting precincts in the parish from 69 to 48. Naturally, this brought about changes in voting precinct boundaries.

Now, let me ask those who were so vehement in their criticism Tuesday this question: Could you have made these changes and reshuffled over 27,000 permanent registrations, properly filed in 81 large loose-leaf binders, and then sealed those binders prior to Tuesday's election according to law, with no mistakes in the few days allotted to complete the task? What's that? You've never made a mistake? Aw, come now! Don't tell me! I'm convinced that you have erred many times since you have been represented in this form of human flesh here on earth, and it is highly probable that you will continue to do so!

Why Not Follow The Health Officer's Advice

West Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I live in Ward 5, Precinct 7 on the West Road, just to the Illinois and Ray Road, just 1-10th of a mile from where the city of West Monroe established their city dump. The citizens who lived close to the dump complained so the city was forced to move the dump. I have owned this property since 1928 and moved here in 1947. There are around 700 people living in this community. The city of West Monroe is forcing their filth, garbage, trash, and rubbish on the community. This has been going on since Mayor Bell was in office.

This community of citizens has contacted the mayor and water and street commissioner of West Monroe, the parish health officer, and his assistants. The health officer and the present mayor have been to this dump on inspection trips and recommendations from the health officer on how to keep the city dump partly sanitary. The health officer recommended for the city of West Monroe to spray dump and cover with dirt each week for sanitation purposes which would help to keep down the flies which originate at this dump. These flies go all over this community with this filth spreading their germs and disease which has been distributed to each home and has caused numerous cases of sickness in our schools and homes.

The city of West Monroe has not done as the health officer has recommended, only spraying with some kind of material which the flies love to eat and raise another brood of flies on to carry their diseases to any place they see fit. Just why the health officer's instructions are not carried out, I do not know.

If we people out here in the country would drive up on the streets of West Monroe and dump our trash and filth on the street under the nose of the citizens of West Monroe, there would be an awful howl.

I want to ask the citizens of West Monroe to help us get this dump moved to a place where there is no one living and then comply with the health authorities instructions. If any of you have any doubt as to the facts of the above statement, drive out the highway and follow the rubbish that has flown from the trucks along the way. You can't be misled to the exact place.

Politics As Usual

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

In your fine editorial of July 22 you ask "Above all, when will the American politicians stop 'playing politics as usual' and begin to fight these people before they can ever be fought before?" (He refers to the radically liberal elements.)

One big deterrent would be for newspapers which have condemned such actions of these politicians, to withhold their support of them for reelection. I refer specifically to The Shreveport Times. In its editorial of November 8, 1952, titled "The South's Presidential Vote" the statement was made "Senator Ellender, vigorous attacker of Trumanism in the last session of congress and in the Louisiana delegation convention, publicly announced he would vote for Stevenson after first denouncing him as a 'deceiver' and as standing for political policies destructive to Louisiana welfare!" How can the Times now reconcile its backing of Mr. Ellender with the implied condemnation quoted above?

OBSERVER.

Mr. Hilton—America Is Almost 100% Mongrelized

Calhoun, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I am a white, college student, twenty years old, and therefore feel I am entitled to speak my piece. And before I get started, may I make it clear that I am a born Southerner, a fierce anti-Communist, and I have not fallen stooge to any Northern agitators or Communist miscreants.

But I am still boiling over the letter of Mr. Thomas A. Hilton in the Sunday, July 25 World. I have noticed that he is a very frequent contributor to both the Shreveport papers and the Monroe papers, and I feel that he is a well-informed man. But, I'm afraid he has fallen prey to the same disease that has clutched so many of us dyed-in-the-wool Southerners in the recent desegregation scare — that disease which prevents people from facing reality and fosters a lack of faith with its resulting fears.

I, perhaps like many other well-meaning Southerners from whom you never hear a peep, am wondering where Mr. Hilton received his qualifications for making such statements he has made in the above mentioned letter. I believe that he has become so absorbed with unnecessary fears that his mind has conjured up the ridiculous. How can a "red-blooded" American become so devoid of faith in his own nation as to attack its foundation of justice in such a manner? Of all the periods in U. S. history, the present is in the greatest need of a firm faith in its citizenry. How can we have faith when such persons as he who has undoubtedly come to wield an influence across the Supreme Court of yielding to subversives and agitators who are attempting to start a revolution? I say that Mr. Hilton, out of all respect, should certainly revise his thinking. I believe that the Communists feel that they have an unwitting co-worker when such statements are made by an individual. Please do not think that I am accusing Mr. Hilton of being Communist; I am not by any means qualified, but let it be known that his type of thinking along those lines will absolutely ruin America, and especially the South, which has in recent years outdistanced the rest of the nation by far in progress.

We must learn to control these fears. Fear itself is all we have to fear — to paraphrase a famous statement. But what we fear most (according to Mr. Hilton) is the mingling of the bloods of the two races. "Brazil is 85 per cent mongrelized," he says. He seems to forget that America comes closer to being 100 per cent mongrelized, if one has to think of it that way. We are rightly the melting pot of the world, and what are any of us but a mixture upon mixture of the blood of every nation on the planet? Yet, because of our heritage, we are 100 per cent Americans. We mustn't ever forget that.

Mr. Hilton speaks of segregation as a divine establishment. Yet, what have all the churches to say of the high court's decision? They all laud it — every one of them, Southern branches included — as a great decision finally bringing us into compliance with Christ's teachings and ridding us of the one great smearer that besmirches us in the blood of every nation on the planet. Yet, because of our heritage, we are 100 per cent Americans. We mustn't ever forget that.

We must accept that the situation is one we are going to have to face squarely. But, for God's sake, don't let us face it with fear in our hearts. We shall have to alter our thinking, perhaps, and give the Negro due credit for possessing a mind and soul the same as we illy-whites; and we can believe in the Southern Negro's ability to make decisions for himself—decisions that shall come from careful consideration for both sides of the fence. Again, I must emphasize that we must not succumb to fear, but stand up straight like the Americans we are, and take new accounts of our faith in our nation and the Almighty to face the situations ahead with spirit and understanding.

Can't Keep Hate Literature From Going In Mails

WASHINGTON, July 31 —UP— Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has advised the House Post Office committee he is almost powerless to stop use of the mails for sending "hate propaganda."

Replying to a special resolution of inquiry introduced by Rep. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.), Summerfield said present law does not specifically bar use of the mails for material attacking a race or religion.

He said the government must prove the material is intended to incite assassination or murder; treason, insurrection or forcible resistance to law or is calculated to cause insubordination, disloyalty or mutiny in the Armed Services.

"It is, of course, regretted that the postal facilities are employed for the dissemination of material of this type," Summerfield wrote. "However, in the absence of authority to exclude it, the postmaster general has no alternative but to accept the material and deliver it to destination."

Javits said Congress should remedy the situation.

"The efforts being made by hate mongers and bigots seeking to promote anti-religious, anti-Protestant, anti-Catholic and anti-Semitic sentiments by materials sent through the mails, under the fraudulent

Gas System Proposed For Clayton

CLAYTON, July 31 (Special) — At a special meeting of the Clayton Mayor and Board of Aldermen last week proposed contract with Elton Murphy & Co. Inc., to install a gas system in the town of Clayton, Concordia parish and vicinity, was discussed.

Details of the contract have not been worked out yet, according to Attorney Roy Halcumb, of Ferriday, but an ordinance will probably be passed at the regular town meeting next Tuesday night.

The gas company will operate like any other privately owned utility and will not be owned by the town. Lines are to be installed throughout the town and to the property lines of individuals. Tapping into the system will then be at the expense of the individual customer. Proposed rates will be $1.45 for the first 1000 cubic feet of gas and 45 cents per 1000 cubic feet after that. It is assumed that the lines will hook into the main interstate line some 2 1/2 to 3 miles west of Clayton.

There were some 25 or more interested citizens at the meeting and the discussion seemed to indicate that the franchise would be granted provided the Gas Company met certain town requirements.

guise of participation in the anti-Communist struggle, requires the real concern of Congress," he said.

Overcrowding In House Restaurant Brings Complaint

WASHINGTON, July 31 —UP— Rep. Clare E. Hoffman said Saturday it's becoming so hard to get a meal in the crowded House restaurant that congressmen may have to start bringing their lunches in paper bags and thermos jugs.

The peppery 78-year old Michigan Republican said he is sick and tired of pushing and shoving. Besides, it is bad for a congressman's health.

In a speech inserted in the Congressional Record, Hoffman said he has been trying for some time to expose the "ridiculousness, the absurdity, the injurious effects of this situation."

He said the answer is bigger and better dining rooms.

"Not a swank eating place such as those our tax dollars have provided in foreign lands," he explained, "but just an ordinary cafeteria or dining room, operated in such a manner that it will pay a profit, instead of imposing a loss upon the taxpayers."

House members have one dining room where they can take guests and another for "members only." There also are two cafeterias — one in the Capitol and one in a House office building.

The House Friday approved a resolution directing the House clerk to investigate congressional eating conditions.

Alcoa And CIO Ready To Sign New Wage Pact

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A new wage contract providing a five cents an hour pay hike plus other benefits for between 15,000 and 20,000 aluminum workers was agreed upon today by the Aluminum Company of America (Alcoa) and the CIO United Steelworkers (USW).

The contract, worked out in negotiation sessions lasting until after 2 a.m. (EDT), averted a strike scheduled to take effect tonight in 11 Alcoa plants.

The company and union officials announced ratification of the agreement here. They said ratification by the full USW negotiations committee took place in Pittsburgh about noon.

Vote For County

the subcommittee in the Phenix City vote investigation, said, in moving to void the six nominations:

"This is the most serious matter ever to come before the state committee."

The resolution specifically charged that Mathews and Ferrell "did knowingly accept the backing of the corrupt political machine," knowing then that the machine "was responsible for lawlessness" in Phenix City.

It charged further that the sheriff and solicitor accepted machine support "under conditions which placed them under obligation" to the machine.

The resolution would give the power to make new nominations for the six offices to the state committee at today's special session.

Ferrell, identified as the brains of the political machine in testimony before the subcommittee, was charged with collecting funds to be used in the machine's political campaigns while serving as chairman of the Russell County Democratic Committee.

The resolution also asserted that Ferrell, as county Democratic chairman, procured the appointment of "racketeers as election officials" for the May 4 primary.

Ferrell and Mathews submitted briefs before the state committee challenging that body's authority to void their nominations. Ferrell was unopposed for renomination and declared in his brief he was not a part of the primary, since the names of unopposed candidates do not appear on the ballot.

State Chairman Ben F. Ray opened the session with an hour-long explanation of legal grounds for the state committee acting on Russell County nominees.

Ferrell was relieved from his duties when acting Atty. Gen. Bernard Sykes took over the investigation of the gang-style murder of Atty. Gen. Nominate Albert L. Patterson at Phenix City June 18.

Mathews was ordered to turn in his gun and badge when the National Guard assumed law enforcement duties at Phenix City.

Atty. Gen. Nominate John Patterson, son of the slain official, led another delegation which urged that the committee throw out the Russell County results and name new officers.

3 Persons Hurt In West Monroe Restaurant Fight

Two men and a West Monroe cafe waitress were injured at about mid-afternoon Saturday when an argument between the two men erupted into a knife-and-chair battle.

West Monroe police said last night that Lelan Caples, 23, has been charged with criminal battery and disturbing the peace following the altercation at the Coney Island restaurant in West Monroe. Police Chief Jeff Caldwell said that one account of the affair indicated that Caples and Felix Mercer began fighting during a heated argument, and that Mercer slashed the younger man across the forehead with a pocket knife.

The police informant said Caples felled Mercer with a chair before officers were summoned, and Mrs. Eunice Beavers, waitress at the cafe, was slashed across the lower spinal region when she attempted to break up the fight.

Mrs. Beavers was treated and released by Wright-Bendell clinic, and Mercer is lodged in St. Francis Sanitarium. Caples was treated at St. Francis and released.

Battery and peace disturbance charges are pending for Mercer upon his release by physicians.

Fullbright Hurls

In a 1952 report the deal appeared to have been "highly improper," Atty. Gen. Brownell has said the Justice Department could find no evidence of law violation.

Fullbright had a clerk read the Senate several pages from the Senate subcommittee report.

He said he wanted the first Senate vote, possibly Monday, to come on this issue.

As the Senate proceeded through a second round of debate on the Flanders resolution, there were signs that the whole burning issue might be shunted to a committee sidetrack.

There were indications Flanders was being forced in the direction of accepting a significant change in his resolution by vigorous objections that it sets forth no specific charges or proof on which the Senate could vote to reprimand McCarthy no evidence backed up by committee hearings.

Fullbright's plan was aimed at meeting such complaints.

The McCarthy Lustron deal was explored by a Senate Rules subcommittee which reported McCarthy got the fee from Lustron at a time when it was heavily in debt to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Both RFC and housing legislation at the time were under jurisdiction of the Senate Banking Committee of which McCarthy was a member.

The Flanders motion, in unamended form, picked up the backing of Sen. Duff (R-Pa.), a strong supporter of President Eisenhower. But Duff's Pennsylvania colleague, Sen. Martin (R), opposed it.

Senators Jenner (R-Ind), Capehart (R-Ind) and Malone (R-Nev) sounded a common theme — that the resolution of condemnation is an attack on the power of Congress to investigate.

As chairman of the Banking Committee that has been inquiring into housing scandals, Capehart said criticism of investigative methods often came from those "who have something to hide."

"Are we going to adopt rules," he asked, "that might protect the fellow who ought to be exposed?"

Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-N.Y.) sprang to Flanders' side in a speech accusing McCarthy of "numerous votes tonight on the Flanders resolution or any substitutes or amendments. He said the Senate would quit around 7 p.m., until noon Monday, to give members ample time to "reflect and rest" before they voted, so there won't be so much tension.

In its 1952 report on an investigation of McCarthy's affairs and financial transactions, the three-man Senate Rules subcommittee declared unanimously:

"Under all the circumstances and particularly without some explanation from Sen. McCarthy, who refused to testify, the acceptance of this $10,000 fee would appear to have been highly improper, to say the least."

It said McCarthy tried unsuccessfully to sell his housing article to various publishers and that he attributed its purchase by Lustron "to the fact that Lustron gave him 'the most favorable contract.'"

Whatever the Senate finally votes on, it will be a roll call vote putting the senators on record.

Knowland put through a clincher motion on that on a show of hands in midafternoon. Only Republican hands were held aloft and there was no count of them.

Senators H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) and Bush (R-Conn.) came along with widely different substitutes for Flanders' proposal.

Smith suggested creating a special committee to look into operations of Senate investigating committees and report back in February.

He told the Senate, too, he thought, Eisenhower "would receive with enthusiasm" any offer by McCarthy to cooperate with the administration in tracking down Communists. But he indicated that McCarthy had rejected a suggestion along that line.

Whereas Smith called for McCarthy to sit in and go along with his proposed special committee, the Wisconsin senator quickly declared:

"If playing ball means quitting our investigation of communism, graft and corruption, that kind of ball I will never play."

Bush's plan was to discard the Flanders' censure move and adopt instead a code of fair procedures for congressional investigating committees he is sponsoring. Attacking that idea as diversionary tactics, Sen. Jenner said it would intrude on the duties of the Rules Committee he heads to work out rules for committees.

"It doesn't answer the problem," he thundered. "It's only someone's idea of a way out of a bad mess."

Parliamentary experts said a revision of the Flanders resolution to include finite charges—Flanders let it be known a set of them is being drafted—would have to be supported by evidence, and evidence would have to be developed at a hearing by some committee.

McCarthy and his friends figured they have the votes to strike down Flanders' proposal as it now stands and were determined to force a showdown on it in unrevised form. Several key Democrats predicted privately the original Flanders resolution definitely would be licked and that also is the view of Knowland.

In huddles off the floor, various Democrats classed as conservatives were saying that Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) has torpedoed the censure resolution.

These senators, who may swing the balance of power when a vote comes, said some of their liberal colleagues were dumbfounded when Morse took the floor last night to say McCarthy deserves censure but the Flanders' resolution was no way to do it. Morse said there had to be specific charges and no committee had raised them.

While Flanders has hinted he has 33 definite charges in reserve, some Democrats said they ought to be boiled down to three or four major ones and then sent to a committee for consideration.

Several Democrats were toying with the idea of a substitute motion of their own that they thought Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) might sponsor. It would put off any decision until some definite time with the hope that by then the subcommittee that conducted hearings on the recent McCarthy-Army row will have turned in a report.

U. S. Business Picture Holds Many Bright Aspects

NEW YORK (AP)—Sharp seasonal slumps were evident in some lines this week, but business sentiment generally was bullish.

Congress passed a bill calling for an overhaul of the federal tax structure—an omnibus reform measure containing important tax incentives for investors and businessmen.

Corporate earnings statements for the first six months of 1954 showed a vast majority of reporting firms doing as well or better profitwise than a year ago, although sales were mostly lower. Steelmakers spoke confidently of an upturn in steel business by September; electric power output set a record. Once again, the stock market raced ahead, with price averages touching new 24-year highs.

The administration announced plans for increased public spending on such projects as shipbuilding, roads and airports "to give business a little nudge."

Retail trade held at a high level despite the July heat. Attractive promotions found consumers ready and willing to part with their cash; merchants also reported an increasing number of sales on credit.

$2 Billion Money Bill Approved By Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, July 31—UP—The Senate Appropriations committee Saturday cleared for floor action a $2,015,771,000 supplemental money bill, including almost a billion dollars for military construction.

The measure provides extra money requested by President Eisenhower to carry out programs of scores of agencies in the current fiscal year. It was $162 million less than asked but considerably more than the $1,303,334,000 House approved figure.

The bill is a catch-all for funds which must be made available before Congress quits for the summer. The foreign aid appropriation is now the only one pending before the committee.

The committee voted $796 million in new funds for Air Force construction at home and abroad. The total authorization was for $907 million, the balance to come from money carried over from the past years.

The House appropriated $484 million in new funds but authorized use of $350 million in carryovers. For naval base construction, the committee approved $114 million in new funds and a total authorization of $209 million. The House figures were $75 million and $196 million.

The Senate committee approved $205 million in new money for Army construction compared with $191 million by the House. Also added was $175 million for 11,000 military housing units. The House did not consider that item.

Detailed figures on appropriations for individual military projects will not be available until next week.

British railways often run trains for ladies only with tea served on the trains during outings of women's clubs.

Construction activity continued brisk. The government reported a contraseasonal summer rise in home-building. Private housing starts in June numbered 115,600—a new high for the year and a 12 per cent gain over May. Volume of heavy construction contract awards continued above year-ago levels.

Possibly lending itself to a less bullish interpretation was the continuing swing toward corporate mergers.

Eugene Grace, chairman of Bethlehem Steel Corp., world's No. 2 steel producer, confirmed that discussions have been under way looking toward a merger with Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., Merritt, Chapman & Scott Corp., big heavy construction firm, announced plans for buying control of Marion Power Shovel Co.

Sharp seasonal downswings were apparent in such basic categories as steel, motors, rails and textiles.

Steel output was at a new low for the year. Several of the nation's biggest steelmakers turned in highly favorable earnings reports, however. Chairman Benjamin Fairless of United States Steel Corp. predicted a gradual pickup in steel demand in about a month from now, as the automobile companies get ready to turn out 1955 models.

Auto output continued to move lower. Industry sources said July production of passenger cars would be the lowest for any month since January.

At the retail end, new car sales for the first 10 days of July were down 43 per cent from the last 10 days of June. Dealers continued to complain about burdensome inventories, but General Motors Corp. said the current market represented nothing more than "a return to the normal competitive conditions" which prevailed before Pearl Harbor.

General Motors reported a 36 per cent increase over last year in its net income (425 million dollars) for the first six months of 1954. The gain was achieved in the face of declining civilian sales and a 22 per cent drop in defense business.

Girl Scout Troop Doesn't Want Man As Scoutmaster

MILFORD, Mich., July 31—UP—A 38-year-old deputy sheriff withdrew his application to be scoutmaster of a local Girl Scout troop Saturday after the local Girl Scout council ruled "a man could not fulfill the basic spiritual and mental needs of the growing girl."

"I still think I could do the job adequately if they would give me a chance," Deputy Ward Mancour said. "And if they'll let me I'd still like to help out the troop once in a while."

Mancour withdrew his application to head the local troop to keep from causing "further discussion" among local townfolk.

Mancour, who has three daughters between the ages of 12 and 15, is a full-time deputy at Oakland county's Kensington Park. He volunteered to take over Milford's 50-member Girl Scout troop when his wife resigned and no one would take her place.

However, the local Girl Scout Council viewed Mancour's application with apprehension. It took two open meetings for members to decide that a man's place isn't among Girl Scouts.

The council said, a man is "incapable of handling the sensitive problems which confront adolescent girls, problems which can be best understood by members of the same sex."

Mancour disagreed. He said his three daughters provided "ample opportunity to observe the ways of the complex female."

NO BLUE JEANS, BOBBY SOX FOR RUSSIANS—The apparel worn by school children in Leningrad, beginning Sept. 1, with the start of the new term, will be uniform—steel gray for both boys and girls, according to an announcement by the Russian Ministry of Education. In addition to cap and badge, a buckled belt will dress up the blouse, which for younger boys will have a soft collar. The girls may wear an apron for suitable occasions over their gray dress. Other cities in the Soviet Union are expected to follow Leningrad's lead in dressing Soviet school children. (AP Wirephoto)

Red Peasants In Delta Demonstrate Against Anti-Reds

HANOI, July 31—UP—Large-scale demonstrations by organized groups of Communist peasant women and children were staged throughout the Red River delta Saturday in an effort to stop anti-Communist Viet Namese from leaving the area.

Communist attempts to persuade the Viet Namese to stay have been confined to threats and promises until Saturday. Convoys of refugees and troops reported mass demonstrations by the Reds to try to stop the evacuation.

Tension grew in the delta and French authorities said they feared the demonstrations might lead to fights. Several incidents were reported from the Bac Ninh area, 20 miles northeast of here.

French and Communist authorities prepared to proclaim the cease-fire in central Viet Nam at 7 a.m. Sunday—6 p.m. CST Saturday. Fighting stopped in North Viet Nam July 27, but peace will not come to all of Indo-China until Aug. 11. In several places along the highways northeast and east of Hanoi Saturday retreating Viet Namese soldiers were set upon by women and children.

The demonstrators implored the soldiers not to leave with the French. If the soldiers refused, the women yelled insults and attempted to prevent them from leaving.

At Hae Siong, east of Hanoi women threw themselves in front of army trucks to make them turn back. But, in no case were French troops molested.

Near the post of Dung Vi women threw themselves on nationalist militiamen marching to Bac Ninh. The same women tried for the second time to release interned Viet Minh civilians in the area and were driven off only when French Foreign Legionnaires fired into the air. One of the legionnaires was injured in the melee by an iron bar wielded by a woman.

Christmas Town In Florida Draws Many Visitors

CHRISTMAS, Fla., July 31—UP—A brightly decorated Christmas tree, Yuletide atmosphere that last year's crowd and a neat little Post Office that does a booming tourist business: That's Christmas in July.

The Christmas crush soon begins in this central Florida community some 25 miles south of Orlando and Postmistress Juanita S. Tucker will have to hire a dozen assistants to handle the avalanche of mail. But even now things are busy, for a town of 200.

"Tourists stop by every day just to see the place," said Mrs. Tucker. "I guess it is the magic of the name that draws people here."

Christmas got its name when a fort for protection against the Indians was occupied on Christmas Day, 1835. Nothing remained of the fortification and the "fort" was dropped from the name long before the Post Office was established in 1892.

But few people had heard of the town until Mrs. Tucker became postmistress in 1932. One December day she wrote her own little Christmas greetings on letters passing through the Post Office, and the simple gesture snow-balled into a tradition.

Last year, some 300,000 pieces of mail were routed through the little building and people in all parts of the world had a distinctive postmark on their holiday mail. It has been an ever-increasing chore, but Mrs. Tucker won't complain.

"After all, if the folks in Christmas didn't feel like pitching in to make Christmas happier in other places, Christmas wouldn't amount to much, would it?"

In keeping with the spirit is an eight-foot high Christmas tree, which Mrs. Tucker believes is "the most photographed Christmas tree in the world." The tree is kept decorated throughout the year and floodlights bathe it during the evening hours. At its base is a small sign which sums up the community feeling:

"The permanent Christmas tree at Christmas, Fla., is the symbol of love and good will—the Christmas spirit every day in the year."

Auto Workers At Dodge Plant May Stage Walkout

DETROIT, July 31—UP—A new strike similar to the one which idled 45,000 Chrysler Corp. workers a week ago was threatened Saturday by Dodge Local No. 3. Members of the local were called to a meeting to ballot on whether to strike.

The local went on strike last week over the discharge of two workers. The union claimed the company was enforcing a "speed-up" and the company denied the charges.

The strike finally was called off when the international union, which hadn't sanctioned the strike, said the walkout was illegal and told the local to sit down and bargain with Chrysler.

"We negotiated with Dodge Wednesday and Thursday," Joseph Cheal, president of the local, said. "They don't want to bargain anymore. They just want to sit around and say no."

Cheal said if members approve a strike the international would be asked to give its sanction before any walkout is called.

Stocks Advance For Seventh Day Without A Break

NEW YORK, July 31—UP—The stock market displayed robust strength this week and refused all chances to decline.

On average the market made its seventh straight weekly advance, an unusually long string of higher markets.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.80 on the week, advancing four days out of five, and closed at $133.20, the highest mark for the average since Oct. 22, 1929.

The aircrafts were strong, but weren't alone in their vigor. Almost all other divisions of the market were higher including some that aren't usually heard from in booming markets. They included the tobaccos, shipbuilders, watch makers, textiles, and distillers.

Some days ago, traders abandoned the blue chips on the theory that they had attained their maximum rise for a while. Attention then was turned to secondary issues, low-priced stocks, and what Wall Street fondly calls special situations.

Earnings statements and dividends brought pronounced moves in individual stocks, and the float money supply was shifted rapidly into various groups from time to time as they were brushed with good news developments.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange included: Curtiss-Wright up 1/2% at 12 1/2; 134,200 shares, Arco Mfg. up 1/2% at 5 1/2; Raytheon Mfg. up 1/2% at 14 1/2; U.S. Steel up 1/2% at 55 1/2; and General Dynamics up 1/2% at 61 1/2.

The corporate bond market prolonged its bullish phase this week with railroads in the lead. Industrials and utilities were also firm but gains among the carriers were more impressive.

Over the counter trading of U.S. government bonds was meager as investors awaited terms of the government's partial refinancing of the national debt.

Million For Work On Mississippi System

WASHINGTON, July 31—UP—Funds for several flood control and navigation projects were recommended to the Senate today by its Appropriations Committee in a catch-all supplemental money bill. They included one million dollars for flood control on the Mississippi River tributaries.

U. S. And Canada Making Progress In Radar Defense

WASHINGTON, July 31—UP—Assistant Defense Secretary John A. Hannah said Saturday that the United States and Canada are making "very good progress" on radar warning systems for defense against Russian attacks across the polar areas.

Hannah, chairman of the American section of the Canadian-United States Defense Board, noted that Canada has decided to go ahead with construction of a new radar net which will be called the mid-Canada Line.

It will be located between the present Pine Tree Chain and the far northern warning net which will extend along the Arctic rim of North America. The Pine Tree Chain runs along the 54th Parallel which splits British Columbia in the west and Labrador in the east.

Hannah said that new Russian jet bombers "make it particularly important" to push the radar warning nets northward as rapidly as possible to extend the warning time that would be available in event of attack.

The mid-Canada Line to be built by the Canadians will be the "best line that can be devised," Hannah said.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson has previously announced that the United States and Canada have begun work on a warning net running across the Arctic rim. It is called the DEW (distant early warning) Line.

Smathers Urges Flexible Farm Price Supports

WASHINGTON, July 31—UP—Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) said Saturday that rigid farm price supports encourage farmers to "produce for waste." He called for a flexible approach.

"It is long past the time that we must recognize that fixed price supports are not the final answer to the farm problem," he said in a statement announcing he would support the flexible system advocated by President Eisenhower.

The battle of "flexible" vs. "rigid" price supports is due to be joined next week when the bill is called up for Senate debate. The House voted a flexible program but the Senate farm bloc is ready to fight to continue the present 80 per cent props.

"A farm program is not realistic—or genuinely helpful to farmers—when it depends upon the building of huge surpluses for which there are neither foreseeable markets nor storage space," Smathers said.

"To continue on our present course wastes billions in American dollars as well as billions in pounds of farm commodities, and especially surplus foodstuffs. I am convinced that either waste is unnecessary."

Smathers said the rigid support formula was part of a patchwork emergency farm program designed to bolster the nation's economy during the "pump priming days of the depression." Over a period of time, he said, this "expensive" approach to the farm economy problem has been found "unsatisfactory and impractical."

Crash Is Fatal To Pilot Of Crop Dusting Plane

ALEXANDRIA, La., July 31—UP—The 32-year-old pilot of a crop dusting plane died today when his plane crashed and burned on a road near Leocombe.

Sheriff Grady Kelley of Rapides Parish identified the dead man as Richard A. Jones of Parma, Ohio.

The sheriff said eye witnesses reported Jones made a pass at a cotton field and hit a tree as he came out. At first the plane seemed not seriously damaged. But it turned, went into a stall, then crashed about 100 feet onto the road.

Witnesses said Jones was conscious after the crash. He called for help but the plane burst into flames before he could be rescued.

There was a growth food shortage in the East Zone and Communist officials appealed frantically Saturday to farmers to bring in the harvest.

There are about 20,000 species of fishes.

South Lacks Unity In Stand On Segregation, Research Group Says

NEW ORLEANS July 31 —UP— The Southern Education Reporting Service said today that segregation practices and problems in the South are varied, depending on the state.

The SERS, a privately endowed agency, will soon begin publishing a monthly newspaper on segregation trends in southern education, as a result of the recent Supreme Court decision.

SERS correspondents from 17 states reported on effects of the ruling in their states at a recent meeting in Nashville, Tenn. Alabama did not send a representative.

The South lacks unity on its stand to the de-segregation ruling, the correspondents reported.

Public opinion varies from the five states which have already refused to consider integration to those border states which have begun integrating their schools.

The five states seeking to circumvent the ruling are Louisiana, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi.

The District of Columbia and four other states are ready to accept the ruling. They are West Virginia, Kentucky, Delaware and Maryland.

The remainder, Oklahoma, Virginia, Texas, Arkansas, North Carolina and Tennessee, appear to have varying degrees of reluctance at complying, but generally are reconciled to giving in eventually.

Here is a state-by-state breakdown on the problem:

Louisiana: The recent Legislature adopted a resolution criticizing the ruling and adopted a bloc of bills allowing the state to keep segregation under its private police power. Another method would give the superintendents of schools the right to assign students to specific schools. However, both Louisiana State University and Southwestern Louisiana Institute have admitted Negro undergraduates.

South Carolina: Three recommendations have been submitted: abolishing the public school system establishing "free choice" schools and subsidizing a private system.

Georgia: A constitutional amendment which would set up a private school system will be put to the voters in November. The state attorney general has declared he will not attend the fall Supreme Court hearings.

Mississippi: Both the Georgia and South Carolina ideas are being considered. That could mean abolition of the public school system and the substitution of a private state-endowed system.

West Virginia: Charleston, the capital, is planning to integrate by 1955. Negroes have been accepted in the past at summer schools and all state colleges have been open to both races since year's start. Parochial schools integrated three years ago.

Kentucky: The governor and attorney general have announced they await further instructions from the court before they act. The Louisville school board will probably adopt a staggered system of integration.

Delaware: Two opinions are offered: Proceed to integration in September or wait until the further decision of the Supreme Court is announced. In South Delaware, some Negro PTA groups are opposed to merging with white PTAs on grounds they will be pushed into the background.

Maryland: A varied situation exists, depending on the state sections. The Baltimore school board has announced integration will begin in the fall, but the attorney general says segregation is still in effect.

District of Columbia: The school board has set up an integration plan and by February 1955 the schools will be 75 per cent integrated. The District has more Negro residents than white and there is no segregation in theaters and restaurants. President Eisenhower wants the District to serve as a model for the rest of the South.

Oklahoma: Integration may be postponed one year, but generally there is little consternation at the court decision. A pressing problem will be the tax structure since white and Negro schools now have different budgets and dedicated taxes.

Virginia: One of the so-called moderate states, Virginia may settle on a triple system of schools with segregated white, segregated Negro and integrated schools. The governor has asked the General Assembly to eliminate all references to public schools from the Constitution, leaving the matter in the hands of the Assembly.

Arkansas: The governor has declared that the state would live up to the law. However, state officials are asking local authorities to use caution in bringing changes in September.

Texas: In West Texas, moves already have been taken to integrate, although the State Board of Education has given instructions to continue on a segregated basis. Four state junior colleges now admit Negroes.

North Carolina: The governor has made no public statement. Indications are the state is awaiting further ruling of the court.

Tennessee: Only parochial schools, including two Roman Catholic ones in Nashville, have moved toward integration. It is generally accepted that the state will maintain its public school system.

Florida: The state school superintendent started planning toward integration a year before the decision and announced a month before the ruling that Florida was ready. A $10,000 "guinea pig" study is being handled by two state universities and results will be used in the brief filed with the Supreme Court in the fall.

A. P. Johnston Company of Baton Rouge is contractor for the job, with Sam Street of Alexandria as foreman of the project.

Workmen this week were expected to complete the work of tearing out the old structure, after which the debris will be hauled away by state highway maintenance forces to be used "fill" material in other places. Work on the new structure is expected to begin the early part of next week.

A couple without children always manages to find troubles of some sort to fill the vacancy.

Cadet George W. Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Parsons, Rt. 1, Box 169, West Monroe, is attending a four week Air Force ROTC Summer Camp Training here. Over two hundred cadets are currently attending this encampment according to Lt. Col. Lewis J. Wright, USAF, Camp Commander.

The cadets are instructed through every phase of Air Force endeavor. A typical day includes calisthenics, drill, lectures and tours of Barksdale. The lectures range from organized air power to the operation of an individual line shop.

YOKOHAMA, Japan — Pvt. Kerry L. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Anderson, Stubbs ave., Monroe, La., recently completed a supply records specialist's course conducted by the Army in Yokohama, Japan.

Anderson, who arrived overseas in June, studied the army's newest methods of keeping supply records.

A former student at Louisiana State University, he entered the army in March 1953 and completed basic training at Fort Campbell, Ky.

Marine Pfc. William A. West, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. West of 1413 McGuire, Monroe, La., took part in an historical retirement ceremony at Pearl Harbor July 31. A brigade parade and review and jet aircraft flyover was the official "Aloha" to Lt. Gen. Franklin A. Hart of Eufaula, Ala., first Marine commanding general ever to retire outside the continental United States.

The General and Mrs. Hart departed afterward for the mainland. He had commanded Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, which includes two-thirds of the Marine Corps combat forces, since Jan. 1, 1952.

He was advanced to four-star rank upon retirement for having been specially commended in combat. His successor will be Lt. Gen. Robert H. Pepper, USMC, a native of Georgetown, Del.

Marine Pvt. Willie B. Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Roberts, of Rayville, La., participated in an air-ground exercise in Honshu, Japan, early in June which demonstrated the Marines' ability to move over great distances and strike instantly.

The "flying boxcars" of Marine Transport Squadron 252 air-lifted, in 52 timed flights from central to southern Honshu, 1,851 combat-equipped Leathernecks of the 9th Marine Regiment's reinforced 1st Battalion, and 141 tons of cargo.

The Marines, 40 to each aircraft, boarded at Atsugi, near Yokohama, and landed 250 miles south at Itami near their home base at Camp Shinadaya. The assault companies landed first, followed by support elements, including jeeps, small trucks and heavy weapons.

The exercise, completed in 17½ hours, wound up a month of maneuvers conducted by the 9th Marines on the slopes of Fujiyama.

7TH DIV., Korea—Pfc. Frank E. McLean, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McLean, 1220 McCreight St., is serving in Korea with the 7th Infantry division.

Men of the "Bayonet" division are undergoing intensive training to maintain the peak combat efficiency displayed by the unit from Pusan to the Yalu river.

McLean, a member of headquarters company of the 17th regiment's 3d battalion, has been in Korea 11 months. He entered the army in February 1953 and completed basic training at Camp Rucker, Ala.

Richard E. Tooke, son of Mrs. Paula M. Tooke, 3409 Gordon Ave., is attending a four week Air Force ROTC Summer Camp Training here.

Over two hundred cadets are currently attending this encampment

MAP CANCER DRIVE IN PARISH — Members of the Ouachita Parish unit of the American Cancer Society are shown at a recent meeting with Mrs. Marion Simmons, executive secretary for the State of Louisiana, ACS, to map plans for the coming cancer fund campaign. Reading from left to right are Miss Winona Probus, Fifth District representative; Fred Fudickar, Jr., parish campaign chairman; Dr. R. W. Dickenhorst, Ouachita Parish board president; Mrs. E. A good way to keep your wardrobe in tip-top shape is to have a week-end check without fail. Sort out the clothes that need cleaning, that are minus buttons, that need pressing, that need fresh collars and cuffs. And you'll avoid that sinking last-minute feeling you get when a survey of your closet reveals you've literally nothing to wear.

New corched gloves are made of stretchable nylon yarn and fit any size hand. Washing them is quite simple; just squeeze them through soapsuds, rinse well, and they'll be dry in no time at all.

Solons From Oil-Producing States Seek Probe Of Over-Supply Of Crude

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—Members of Congress from oil-producing states are considering asking a congressional investigation of reasons for present over-supplies of petroleum products.

This was disclosed today by Rep. Steed (D-Okl.), who said: "Because of conflicting views on what has created the present situation in the domestic industry, one of the things we are trying to do is to get a subcommittee appointed to inquire into the whole picture, including oil imports."

Such a study, Steed believes, should deal with reasons for over-supplies, declining prices and reduced crude production quotas under state proration systems.

"Interior Department officials said they believed the oversupply situation was seasonal and the winter demand for heating oils would correct it," Steed said. "Some oil people don't seem to believe it is seasonal."

"One of the first things we have got to do is to try to get the basic facts. I believe a congressional committee inquiry would be probably the best way to get the facts. I believe the situation on the domestic industry front is too distressful to permit us to sit idly by, hoping that relief will come in October."

He said he would like to see such an investigating committee make "a first-hand check in the field."

Steed explained the subject arose through a preliminary inquiry by some congressmen from oil states as to whether the conditions were of a seasonal or permanent nature.

"I feel any hope for relief in the foreseeable future depends upon getting that point cleared up," he added.

Ralph Yarborough At Last On Record For Segregation

By BO BYERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

Ralph Yarborough put himself on record Friday favoring segregation of Negroes and whites in Texas public schools.

It was his blunt answer to repeated demands by Gov. Allan Shivers, his opponent in the runoff for the governorship, that Yarborough say how he stands on segregation.

Yarborough made his statement at an Austin press conference in response to persistent questioning by reporters.

Although his answer put him in the position of agreeing with Shivers, who has said segregation will continue as long as he is governor, Yarborough said he thinks Shivers has tried to stir up a "hate war" between the races with a "fictional issue."

"Segregation is not an issue. It's Shivers' efforts to create a fictional issue," Yarborough declared.

It appeared Shivers would continue to make it one. He said Thursday he would like to know what Yarborough had promised in order to secure heavy support from Negro voters.

Replying to some of Shivers' earlier press conference remarks, Yarborough said he has not promised "any group, anybody, anything that I have not promised publicly from the stump."

While Shivers and Yarborough traded warm-up blows for runoff campaigns that will hit full stride next week, a battle between conservatives and liberals for party control was in the offing.

That battle was expected at Saturday's county Democratic conventions. Liberal elements, backing Yarborough, gained strength at last Saturday's precinct meetings although conservative, pro-Shivers forces continued dominant.

Saturday's conventions will determine which controls delegates to the state convention in September.

Eventual goal of both factions is to hold control, with attendant bargaining power, when the state convention names delegates to the presidential convention in 1956.

A pat on the back President Eisenhower gave Shivers two days ago brought repercussions from both Republicans and Democrats in Texas Friday.

In Corpus Christi, Jim Stickler resigned as chairman of the Nueces County Republican Executive Committee and announced he is withdrawing as a candidate for state executive committee from the 20th senatorial district. He said he does "not approve the action of President Eisenhower in endorsing a Democratic candidate for Governor when we have a Republican candidate in the race." Todd Adams of Crockett is running on the GOP ticket.

Soybeans Climb By 20 Cents Or More In 5 Days

By WILLIAM FERRIS
CHICAGO, July 30 (AP)—Soybeans soared on the Board of Trade this week as if they were jet-propelled. They finished a staggering 19 1/2 to 25 1/2 cents higher for the five day period.

It was the weather, not jet propulsion, which sent soybeans higher. And, if the opinions of crop experts mean anything, it wasn't so much what the weather had done to the soybean crop as what it might do.

Grain buyers apparently felt that, if the dry, hot weather in parts of the Midwest continued it would seriously cut down crop production.

Ten LSU Faculty Members Retire

BATON ROUGE, July 31 (Special)—Ten faculty members of Louisiana State University will receive certificates recognizing their long years of service upon retirement from the University at the Summer Commencement exercises scheduled for August 6.

William G. Taggart, director of the agricultural experiment station has the longest record of service, 48 years, and retires with the rank of Director Emeritus.

Three faculty members are retiring this year with the rank of Professor Emeritus. They are: Miss Hazel Anna Baker, professor of home economics, 30 years service; Mrs. Fadra Holmes Wilson, professor of education and psychology, 21 years service; and Dr. John Marshall Nason of the General Extension Division with 18 years service.

Claude B. Gouaux, agronomist in the Agricultural Experiment Station, and Christopher B. Haddon, agronomist and superintendent of the Northeast Louisiana Experiment Station, will retire as Agronomist Emeritus with 25 and 33 years service, respectively.

Charles Egan Smith, head of the department of entomology, will retire as Entomologist Emeritus with 34 years service.

Others to receive certificates are John R. Shoptaugh assistant professor of education, 35 years service; Miss Gladys Tappan, district agent in the Agricultural Extension Division, 21 years; and James Milton Baker, associate professor and associate agricultural economist, 17 years service.

Civilian Catering Firm Takes Over KP Duties At Oklahoma Air Force Base

ENID, Okla., July 31—UP—Enlisted men of Vance Air Force Base near here surrendered paring knives and dish towels to civilians Saturday in a noble and notable experiment that may end an unpopular military tradition—KP duty.

And the airmen who were relieved of KP assignments had even more to be thankful for. Civilians taking over their kitchen duties were, in some instances, pretty girls.

The Air Force said the Vance base experiment will determine whether airmen throughout the United States are excused from KP in the future.

The civilian catering firm which took over Vance kitchens after the Saturday evening meal planned cafeteria - style service. The military men will not be required to empty uneaten portions of food in garbage box, as has been the custom, and dirty dishes will be carried away by waitresses.

Nationwide Food Services, Inc., of Chicago holds a contract to prepare and serve the meals. Food and equipment is being supplied by the Air Force.

The Sunday noon menu features roast prime rib of beef, french onion potatoes, buttered green beans, garden salad with mayonnaise, hot biscuits, cake and ice cream along with coffee, tea or milk.

Airmen have often complained they were taken off the job of maintaining airplanes to pull KP. The consensus of the airmen is "boy, things are changing and all for the good."

The new management is coming a little late for the man it will affect the most, Mess Sgt. F. E. Barger, who will retire next year after 20 years of service. Barger is being transferred to Lackland, Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex.

"I was pushed into this job in 1941," he recalled. "they put me through six weeks of school and I've been cooking ever since. If they had had a deal like this, I might have been doing something else all these years. That would have suited me fine."

Winnsboro will host the district's Little League tournament, beginning tomorrow, and B. I. Berry, who heads the circuit for 8-to-12-year-olds in Franklin parish, promises an interesting visit for the city All-Star champions of Monroe, West Monroe, and Bastrop when they move into Winnsboro to settle the question of the district's representative in the state tournament at Alexandria the following Friday and Saturday.

Bastrop and Monroe, who were the originators of Little League ball in this section, will be rivals in the tournament opener at 5 o'clock tomorrow evening. West Monroe, experiencing its second season, and Winnsboro, in its first year with an official Little League entry, meet in the second game immediately after Monroe and Bastrop leave the field. The winners Monday play Tuesday night at 7 o'clock for the district title.

The winner at the Alexandria state tournament will qualify for the section one tournament at Natchez, Miss., the following week. And the champ at Natchez goes to the five-state event at Austin, Tex., Aug. 16-17-18-19, in the last step toward the national at Williamsport, Pa.

Winnsboro has already qualified one team, its V. F. W.-sponsored Babe Ruth All-Stars for one National meet, the V. F. W. Teen-Tournament at Hershey Park, Pa., August 16-21. The same Babe Ruth team barely missed the state Babe Ruth Championship here Friday night, losing out to the Monroe All-Stars in a pitching battle between "Big Red" Henry, Winnsboro, and Bill Burnette, Monroe. Henry and Burnette pitched matching four-hitters. Billy Ray Temple, center fielder, had been erroneously reported as the Winnsboro pitcher, but it was Henry in the fine performance.

The Monroe Babe Ruthers, pointing for the regional four-state tourney at Austin, Tex., next Thursday, get a final tune up here tomorrow night against West Monroe American Legion Juniors, district and state regional winners who lost out in the state semi-finals against Natchitoches. This is a challenge game in which the Babe Ruth club expects a good test of its own strength, plus a means of raising money to finance the Austin journey.

6 Records Set, Tied By Adcock's Great Performance At Bat

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP) — Six records were set or tied in the Milwaukee-Brooklyn game today, with Joe Adcock, Milwaukee first baseman, accounting for most of the changes in the record books. Adcock's four home runs tied the major league record and his 18 total bases also tied a double-established a new major league mark. His five extra-base hits tied the major league mark and established a new National League mark.

He also had a home run against Brooklyn last night, so his five homers in two consecutive games tied the major league mark. The 10 runs hit by both clubs and Milwaukee's 13 extra base hits tied league records.

Joe Thomas Claims Twin City Junior Golf Crown

Little Joe Thomas, the 12-year-old bantam of boys' golf in the Twin Cities, yesterday defeated Bobby Roddy, 3 and 2, in the final round of the annual Twin City Junior golf tournament at Municipal Golf club to win the trophy presented by Wayne Hucksby, commissioner of streets and parks of Monroe.

Eddie Watkins, West Monroe, beat Richard Burgoyne for the championship consolation, 4 and 2. Benny House was the first flight winner, beating out Paul Pettit in their final match, 4 and 3. First flight consolation went to Howard John who had to go 19 holes to stop "Sonny" Harper for a 1 up victory.

George Ellas was the winner of the second flight award. He defeated Jim Harper, 3 and 2. There was no second flight consolation.

Oilers Whip Sports, 7 To 1; On 14 Hits

Twin Cities Held To 3 Hits; Chetta Blasts Home Run

The El Dorado Oilers, blasting Twin Cities pitching for 14 hits, jumped into a five-run lead in the first inning and coasted to a 7-1 victory over the Sports here last night in the opening of a brief two-game series. The Oilers and their short home stand with the Oilers here today in a game starting at 3 o'clock at Legion Memorial Stadium.

Don Radabaugh silenced Twin Cities bats with three hits, one of them a fourth-inning homer by Sam Chetta. Only other hits off the Oilers lefty were a seventh-inning double by Jim Nissel and a ninth-inning single by Leonard Morrison.

Meanwhile every member of the El Dorado batting order got at least one hit at the expense of Sports hurler, John Sullivan. The "Jaycee" Night" program opened with the Jaycee softball team of the Civic League playing the Sports a three-inning comic exhibition that ended in a 4-4 tie.

The game saw umpires calling weird plays and assisting in the fielding. Jaycee base runners "shooting" fielders to stop putouts, and the Sports using Chuck Forbes and Sam Chetta as pitchers, and Paul Flores as a catcher.

The regular Cotton States game started just as weird. John Sullivan, starting Sports hurler, left the game after only two thirds of an inning as he watched five runs cross the plate. Gene Bilo and Frank Walenga, who had walked, scored on a double by Pel Austin. Bob Scott walked. Marty Filogamo singled Austin across, and when Herman Herzog failed to block the throw-in, Scott scored. A single by Bill Carr finished Sullivan and scored Filogamo. Miles McWilliams came in to get Radabaugh on an outfield fly to retire the side.

Radabaugh promptly walked the first three Sports to face him, loading the bases with none out, but the Sports couldn't score, and the El Dorado lefty had a no-hitter until Chetta delivered a 365-foot smash over the left field fence for a home run in the fourth inning. Singles by Bilo, Austin and Scott loaded the bases with Oilers after one was out in the eighth inning. Filogamo grounded out, scoring Bilo. Austin counted on a wild pitch.

The feature match is slated for the best-of-three falls, with a 90-minute time limit, and two one-minute preliminaries, between opposing team members, both have ten minute time limits.

George, the younger half of the popular and famous Curtis brothers, has been absent from Monroe for many months; and draws another young scientific wrestler, Fargo, as his partner. Both are clean-cut crowd-pleasers.

Young Curtis is renowned for his atomic drop, while Fargo knows and applies more holds than most wrestling cards contain. The two, with Curtis' size and ruggedness plus Fargo's speed and skill should make a formidable combine for any opponents.

Dusek and Campbell, who wrestled as a team last week to win Indian Chief Apache and Fargo, are thus well acquainted with each other's style and ability, which means much in a relay tussle.

Babe Ruthers Challenge West Monroe For Game

Monroe's Babe Ruth All-Stars, Louisiana state champions with a 4-2 finals victory over Winnsboro Friday night, have challenged the West Monroe American Legion Juniors, district champs who reached the state semi-finals, to a game here tomorrow night.

Walter Reed, state chairman of Babe Ruth League baseball, last night said Coach Loy Scarborough's West Monroe Oneco Sales boys have accepted the challenge and the two clubs will meet at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at Legion Memorial Stadium.

The game will give the Ruth Stars a final preparation game before entering the national regional tournament Thursday against the champions of Texas at Austin, Tex. Four states will have champions at the Austin tournament with the kingpins of Arkansas and New Mexico meeting in the other first round game.

"The game will serve to raise funds to help finance the trip to Austin," Reed said. "Every cent realized from the exhibition contest will be used to help make the trip to the national regionals a successful one for our boys."

Unknown Bandits Shoot Up Police Cars In Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 31 —UP—A police car at Brundidge, Ala., was shot up by unknown bandits traveling in a high-powered car early Saturday only 13 hours after a Montgomery policeman's motorcycle was shot up under similar circumstances.

Brundidge police were unable definitely to say the car was the same one which came through Montgomery yesterday afternoon, but Police Chief E. B. Stafford said they "felt it was the same one."

Montgomery police suspected that Nick George Montos, one of the nation's ten most-wanted men, was traveling in the car.

The car which carried the gunmen at Montgomery was a blue Cadillac convertible carrying an out-of-state tag thought to be a Georgia license plate. Three men were riding in it.

None of the policemen were injured in the two shootings. In both cases, the car was lost after long chase.

At Montgomery, the Cadillac escaped policeman Ralph M. Hammonds, who was riding the shot-up motorcycle. It disappeared on U.S. highway 80.

Alabama highway patrolmen maintained a search for it from then on but were unable to locate the car again until the Brundidge shooting.

There, night policeman William H. Spann said he spotted the car traveling on a back street at high speed. He knew nothing of the Montgomery shooting and attempted to catch it for speeding.

When he was about 150 yards away, the gunmen opened fire. Two bullets passed through the center of the windshield and out the back window.

Spann said he chased the automobile nearly 30 miles to Elba, Ala., but lost it when it outran his car.

Chief Stafford said Spann did not know what kind of gun was used in the early morning shooting but thought it must have been a high-powered rifle, judging from the gunman's accuracy in shooting from a racing automobile.

Conference On Leadership Set For August 17

BATON ROUGE, July 31 —UP—The second annual state leadership conference for officers of local education associations is scheduled for Aug. 15-17 on the Louisiana State University campus.

This was announced Saturday by N. B. Hackett, executive secretary of the Louisiana Education Association, who said the conference is held "to acquaint local educational leaders with the achievements and objectives of their professional organizations."

Dr. R. B. Marston of the National Education Association will be a special consultant at the conference. The NEA is co-sponsoring the meeting with the Louisiana Education Association and LSU.

Designer Dior's 'Ideal' Figure Is Big-Hipped

PARIS, July 31 —UP— French designer Christian Dior unveiled Saturday what he calls the ideal figure for his new scullion-shape. Using a five foot, nine inch model the vital statistics were: Bust 32.7 inches, Waist 24.7, Hips 35.8. He said the secret of the new shape was a secret new brassiere and corset.

M. S. YOUNG

Local C. P. A. Group Will Meet Thurs.

Members of the Monroe Chapter of the Louisiana Society of Certified Public Accountants will hear McCready S. Young, prominent Texas auditor, at the regular monthly meeting, slated to be held Thursday at the Bayou de St. Louis Country Club. The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. with Everett Heller, president, presiding.

Young, superintendent of the production planning department for the Lone Star Steel Company, Lone Star and Dallas, Tex., has been employed by the company for more than six years. He joined the company to direct the budgetary control and economic studies. During the past three years he has been construction auditor and later project manager of the company's $87 million steel mill expansion program, an activity which he still directs in addition to the production planning function.

He is a graduate of the University of Utah and has done graduate work at Harvard University graduate school of business administration. His business experience includes service with the Columbia Steel Company, a division of U. S. Steel, and the California Packing Corporation.

Young will discuss "Construction Accounting."

Spanish conquistadors under Hernando Cortes explored most of Mexico and what is now the U. S. southwest nearly a century before the Pilgrims landed in New England.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

YOU WALK THE DOG—
Water The Lawn, Feed The Chickens, Mend The Roof

WHY?

Because you are reasonably kind to animals, and because things last longer if they are cared for. HOW ABOUT YOUR CAR. Preventative service is important here too just as it is around the house.

Automobile owners should realize that their valuable car must be serviced to give service. Let our experienced mechanics give your car a free check-up soon.

WILL YOUR CAR BALANCE ON A CURVE?

Are you taking a chance that your car's steering and wheel mechanism is in perfect performing condition? If your car is hard to turn, if your tires are wearing fast, chances are your steering mechanism and your wheels need checking.

Our Service Department is equipped to correct these minor defaults that could result in tragedy.

BARGAINS YOU HAVEN'T SEEN IN 15 YEARS!

MID-SUMMER

"More power to your dollar!"

CLEARANCE

We've "aged" our stock . . . and every piece we own which was not bought and delivered to us on today's LOW MARKET has been cut to the bone . . . cut below wholesale cost in most cases . . . or way below today's prices in every case. We're sacrificing this less desirable part of our inventory to kick it out fast and make room for Fall Shipments contracted for in the June Markets. Never before such a Mid-Summer Clearance!

PRICES LESS THAN WHOLESALE!

Everything we are offering in this gigantic clearance is a whole of a bargain even at today's lower market prices! This is your chance for spectacular savings if you will shop every floor carefully and find the things you need. This is only a partial listing . . . it would take many pages to list everything!

Summer Tennis

Monroe Morning World
Sunday, August 1, 1954

Society

Summer vacation finds the tennis courts at Forsythe Park crowded with players.

Above—Bobby Johnson congratulates Nat Troy on his victory in the Jaycee Tennis Tournament. Bobby and Nat were finalists in the tournament, which was played last week on the Forsythe Courts.

Right—Waiting their turn for a court, are Penny Proffit, Teenie Delarot, Pat Kelly, (kneeling) Nancy Breard.

Above—King Stubbs and Tom Simonton ready for a match. King watches as Tom spins the racket for first serve.

Parker-Hill

TALLULAH — Miss Lois Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hill and Mr. A. G. Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Parker, were married at the Willow Bayou Baptist Church near Tallulah on Sunday. The Rev. Clyde A. Williams officiated in the presence of members of the two families and a few close friends.

Following a short honeymoon in south Louisiana, the couple will reside in Tallulah where Mr. Parker is assistant manager of the Atlantic and Pacific grocery store.

The blink of a human eye can last as long as half a second.

Farewell Parties Fete Ambroses This Past Week

Society has centered about the Z. C. Ambroses, who leave this week for Houston, Texas, where they will make their home in the future.

They were entertained by the William Feazels and members of the Southwest Gas Producing Company last Saturday evening at dinner, at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Among the other parties given in their honor, was the boat ride on Tuesday evening, with Mr. and Mrs. Alden Shotwell hosts on the "Goofus". Attending the party with the Ambroses were, Mr. and Mrs. Max Riley, Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Snodgrass, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Sperry, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Skillman, Mrs. John Crump, Mrs. Al Beasley, and Mr. Tom McEachern.

Included with the honorees were, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. John Clay, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clay, Mr. and Mrs. John Crump, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Orchard.

Also Mrs. Mildred May, Mrs. Elsie McClendon, Mr. Charles Williams, Mr. Tom McEachern Jr. and Mr. Garrett Stewart.

Keep Cool But Covered

Bare-backed dresses are popular this summer. But that doesn't mean they should be the choice of every woman.

Generally, the older woman should shun them. Unless she is unusually blessed, the woman who is close to 50 lacks the firm flesh that's a must for looking well in revealing styles.

And that holds true even when a woman is neither over nor underweight.

But it's not necessary to keep uncomfortably covered up to dress well for one's age.

With the wide variety of styles available, a woman can find many that will be cool as well as becoming.

One fashion-favored style, for example, features a full bertha collar that hides cool, cut-out, arm holes.

Or, a bare-backed dress coupled with a capelet would be a comfortable compromise. And the stole, of course, is still a favorite means of cover-up.

Teen-age fare: pour chocolate sauce or syrup over ice cream and top with crushed peanut brittle.

PAPER PLATE PICTURES

If you don't want to eat from paper plates, perhaps you'd like to use them as home decorations. The paper association gives these tips: get plates in a color or with a border motif that fits in with the color scheme of your room. Take ads from magazines, patterns from wall paper, or even Audubon prints, cut them to the shape and size of your nine-inch paper plates and paste. For a den, plates with a woodlike finish come in handy. Kitchen plates can be edged with ribbon or strip of fabric left over from the curtains.

Levesque-Huff Vows Exchanged In Naval Chapel

Miss Elaine Huff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Huff of Harrisonburg, became the bride of John C. Levesque of Houltton, Maine, in an impressive double ring ceremony performed in the U. S. Naval chapel at Chelsea, Mass. Father Sullivan officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by John Kivela, was wearing a pale blue dress with white accessories. She carried a white orchid atop a white Bible.

Miss Beverly Barker of Portland, Oregon, was maid of honor. Her dress was of a pale pink and she carried a bouquet of white and pink carnations.

Charles Shay of Worcester, Mass., was best man.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kivela.

For a wedding trip, to Houltton, Maine, and Canada, the bride changed to a light grey suit with matching accessories.

They will make their home at Winthrop, Mass.

The bride is a graduate of Harrisonburg High School and B. M. I.

Lavender Water Introduced Here

ALL-SIZE BELT
Whether your waist measures 24 or 30 inches, a new belt with a hidden nylon track in it can be adjusted to size. The nylon track slips smoothly through a slide on back of the belt buckle and locks when the desired size is reached.

Use the open ends of tin cans, in various sizes, when you want to cut rounds of bread for pretty summer sandwiches and canapés. You can make the sandwiches interesting by using one round cut from white bread along with one round cut from whole wheat or rye bread.

Delicate lavender has long been established among the ideal fragrances for scented linens and lingerie. The tradition, begun during the Middle Ages, was brought to this country by the earliest settlers.

Until now, English lavender has been most widely known here. But this spring one of the leading French perfume houses is introducing a lavender water made from the lighter, sweeter lavender of southern France.

The special delicacy of this lavender, says the firm, makes it the perfect choice to sprinkle liberally over cotton fluffs to tuck among the sheets, pillow slips, towels and blankets in your linen closet.

As a body cologne, the French lavender can be added to the bath water or freely patted on the skin after the bath.

The firm further suggests using its lavender water to help relieve headaches. To banish hot-weather blues, touch it to your wrists and the bends of your arms.

Packaged prettily in a bottle suggestive of the picturesque baskets used by the flower-pickers of southern France, the fragrance is recommended by the firm as a Mother's Day gift.

Keep crackers in original carton until opened, then place in a covered container. To crisp crackers, place them in the oven for a few minutes.

Miss Prestridge, Mr. Schleif Pledge Vows In Columbia

An outstanding wedding of the summer season was that of Miss Mary Bess Prestridge of Dallas and Richard A. Schleif, also of Dallas, son of Mrs. Joseph Zink of New York City. The bride is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Nunn of Columbia.

The wedding was solemnized last Sunday afternoon in the First Baptist Church of Columbia with Reverend George Jenkins officiating. Floor standards of white gladioli and daisies and greenery decorated the altar, and smilax formed the background. Cathedral candles were placed at intervals. Mrs. Earl M. Harris was organist and accompanied Miss Frances Elliott as she sang, "Because" and "Al-ways."

Miss Prestridge, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. L. C. Nunn, wore a summer frock of blue linen and lace. She carried a prayer book decorated with tuberoses and centered with a white orchid. Her hat and shoes were of blue.

Mrs. John W. Bell Jr., was matron of honor. Her short dress of net and lace was pink. Her bouquet was of harmonizing flowers.

William H. Buzzell served his brother-in-law as best man. The ushers were James Sasser of Logansport and Neil Riser.

A reception followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Nunn. Mrs. Nunn received the guests in a dress of navy lace with pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations. Mrs. Buzzell, the sister of the bridegroom, wore navy with white carnation corsage.

The bride's table was covered with a cutwork cloth and centered with a tiered wedding cake. White candles in silver holders were at either side. Cascade arrangements of white carnations and tulle also decorated the table.

Miss Neina Sue Harris and Mrs. Jane McGowan served the wedding cake and the punch bowl was presided over by Miss Katie Lou Prestridge of Olla. Mrs. S. G. Jarrell assisted in serving.

After their wedding trip to New York City the young couple will reside in Irving, Texas. The bride traveled in a gray suit with white accessories.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Prestridge, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Jack Branch of Natchitoches, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Prestridge Jr., Baton Rouge, Mr. A. E. Prestridge, Marianna, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. P. Prestridge, Mr. and Mrs. Virginia Prestridge, Miss Katie Lou Prestridge, Mrs. S. E. Moseley, Mrs. Lee Carroll, Mrs. Mark Mason, Mrs. Henry Mosley all of Olla, Mrs. Alice Teddlie, Farmerville, James Sasser, Logansport, Mr. and Mrs. William Buzzell, David and Missy of Dallas, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bell and Pat of Houston.

Rehearsal Supper
Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McIlwain were hosts in their home to the bridal party of the Schleif-Prestridge wedding following their rehearsal. The house was decorated with calladium leaves, ivy and sanseveria.

A cut glass bowl filled with pink and white summer flowers centered the supper table in the dining room. The daughters of the hosts and Mrs. John Bell assisted in serving.

The bridal couple took this time to present gifts to their attendants.

Included with the bride and groom-elect were Dr. George Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. William Buzzell, David and Missy, Dallas, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bell Jr., and daughter, Pat, of Houston, James Sasser, Logansport, Miss Frances Elliott, Olla, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Nunn, Mrs. Earl Harris, Miss Neina Sue Harris, Neil Riser and Mrs. H. L. Green of Monroe.

LIGHT STEAM IRON

A new travelling steam iron works on a-c or d-c and weighs only 27 ounces when filled with water. Using a detachable bulb as a water container, the iron supplies steam for 17 minutes. Without the bulb, it becomes a fully automatic dry iron.

MISS MARCIA ANN BOONE

Miss Boone And W. D. Easterling To Be Married

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Boone of Fort Worth Tex., have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Marcia Ann Boone, to William Donald Easterling, son of Mr. H. F. Easterling of this city and Mrs. H. J. Hendrix of Pine Bluff, Ark.

The wedding will take place at 7 p.m. August 27 in John Knox Presbyterian Church, where a reception will also be held.

Miss Boone attended T. C. U. and Texas State College for Women. Mr. Easterling attended Northeast State College and will graduate from T. C. U. in January.

Mrs. David Easterling of LaPryor, Tex., will be matron of honor and Miss Patricia Anne Boone, cousin of the future bride, of New Orleans will be bridesmaid.

David Easterling of LaPryor will attend his brother as best man. Larry Crabbe and C. V. Dopson will serve as groomsmen, and Hank Easterling of Monroe and Tom Boone, brothers of the couple, will usher.

WOOD FINISHES

Apply all wood finishes in dry, nonhumid weather. Finishes—paint lacquer, enamel, varnish or shellac—come out best when the woodwork is treated with an undercoat. Shellac ordinarily dries dust-free in ten minutes. But for most desirable results allow at least three hours between first and second coats.

If soap was formerly used in a washing machine, and you are changing over to detergent, remove the soap suds from the washer before you wash clothes with the detergent. You can do this by running a hot detergent solution (without clothes) through the machine.

LEAVES FOR GERMANY — Mrs. Joe Lee Brown, the former Mary Elizabeth Byrd, leaves today for New York City and will sail on the "America" August 5th for Nurnberg, Germany where she will join Pvt. Joe Lee Brown. They plan to return to the states in April or May of next year.

MISS VIOLA MILLER'S engagement to Alton M. Nugent of Bastrop is announced today by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Floyd C. Miller. Mr. Nugent is the son of Mrs. Martha Nugent and of the late Mr. Buford Wynn Nugent. The wedding will be solemnized Saturday August 7 at 7:30 p.m. at the Stone Avenue Methodist Church. The Reverend N. L. Yeager will officiate.

Fall Wedding Planned By Rachel Guice

FERRIDAY — Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Eual Guice of Vidalia, formerly of Natchez, Miss., are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Rachel Guice, to Cpl. Arthur Steele Gordin son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Gordin of Canton, Miss.

The wedding will take place in the early fall at the First Baptist Church in Vidalia.

The bride to be, attended Joseph Moore Davidson high school in St. Joseph, Draughton's Business College, Jackson, Miss.; and Belhaven College, Jackson, Miss., where she was a voice major during her senior year. She was also secretary-treasurer of Mu Phi Epsilon, national honorary music sorority, a member of Kappa Delta Epsilon, national honorary education sorority, choral ensemble, Belhaven Christian Association, Baptist Student Union, vice-president, the Miss. Staff and she is presently employed in Jackson by the Jackson Daily News.

Mr. Gordin is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. S. Arthur Gordin of Durant, Miss., and Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Steele, of Lexington, Miss. He attended Canton high school, Hinds county Junior College, Raymond, Miss., and Mississippi Southern College, Hattiesburg, Miss., where he received his B.S. degree in the class of 1951. He is at present serving in the United States Army overseas near Stuttgart, Germany.

Nails Need Special Care

The mature woman would do well to become her own manicurist. For the more care she gives her nails, the better their condition. After forty, the nails tend to become brittle. So, you can develop the professional touch in preserving their beauty.

First, remove all old nail polish. Use cotton dipped in an oily polish remover. If you find it hard to remove the polish from the edges of the nails, use the tip of an orange-wood stick dipped in the remover. File and shape the nails. Use a long, flexible file and for best results, file only in one direction.

For a smooth base to apply your polish, buff the nails briskly. Then scrub the nails with warm soapy water and dry thoroughly. Work gently around the cuticle with an orange-wood stick wrapped in cotton. Use the stick to remove any stubborn bits of dirt under the nails.

Apply a coat of polish-foundation. Let this dry, then apply a single coat of polish. Let this dry thoroughly.

Don't become impatient and blow on your finger tips, or fan them hoping to speed the drying. This will cause bubbles in the polish and an uneven finish.

Your Problems By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: Our daughter is a recent high school graduate and, naturally, we wanted her graduation to be a happy one. She attended all of the activities, including the prom, a supper and a boat trip. However, in addition to that, for three weeks she attended several parties every night that lasted until two and three in the morning. At least one party, beer was served and a few boys brought hard liquor. To us this seems an outrage. We want to know what other parents think, how to cope with such things and whether it is customary for members of all graduating classes to give so many parties?—MA

As I have always maintained, children have most parents baffled: They make you believe that "all the other kids will have a party," or a bike or what have you, and it is your moral obligation to keep up with the Jones kids. It should be plain to any parent that if every graduating student gives a party, there are going to be innumerable two-in-one-night affairs. And when the kids become bored with parties some nitwit will introduce liquor for a kick.

I believe, from what I have seen of both grade and high school graduation celebrations (plenty), that parents should confer with the school principal and insist that the proms be given in the school gym unless better chaperonage is maintained at downtown hotels. Parents should know exactly where their children are heading after the prom and insist on a decent time to be home. Graduation parties in homes should be confined to family parties to which school friends may drop in. No parent should allow liquor to be served. Parents should refuse to allow their children to attend a party where it might be served.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently, when I returned from Korea, the girl I had been dating for two years prior to my departure told me her one-year-old baby was mine. She wants me to marry her. Of course, I cannot be sure but I do not think the baby is mine. However, I still love the girl. Do you think I should marry her?—Don L.

Since the baby could be yours (and probably is) you still owe the girl a trip to the altar. Since you love her, to boot, it seems logical.

It's wedding bells for you, sonny boy.

Dear Mrs. Landers: My husband has always helped his mother and sisters financially. His mother expects money from him regularly though she is well able to work. His sisters are both married but have never worked.

His family does not believe in having women work (only I can work). My husband is the big-hearted boss at his office, always helping and worrying about the women who work for him and trying to make things easier for them. At home, I do everything . . . and hold my outside job. His money is his but mine, plus what little he gives me, goes for my clothes and expenses. When we go out he drinks too much, makes love to everyone and ignores me. We have no children. Is this all there is to marriage? I know a woman is supposed to give more but, honestly, is it worth it? — I Wonder.

Not for your kind of a hitch . . . that's no marriage. You are supposed to love one another and work together toward common goals . . . it looks as though you are the play horse with your husband sitting in the rig. Better have a little chat and find out where you two are going and what you are going to accomplish in life. If I were in your pumps I would start by quitting my job. Why should your husband be such a big-time Charlie at your expense?

Dear Mrs. Landers: Do you think it is wrong for a girl who is shy to carry on a phone conversation with a boy? I have done so and feel guilty. I love my mother and would like to tell her about these calls. Do you think I should? Do you consider me boy crazy?—Sally, A Reader

I have heard of a lot worse things than carrying on a phone conversation with a boy. I don't for the life of me see anything wrong so why don't you tell mom and get it over with? No, I would not call you "boy crazy" — just bitten a little by the boy attraction and, that too, is just nice and normal for your age.

Confidentially — M. S. A. and Ann. Please send your name and address to me for our club list.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper.)

Anderson-Roach

TALLULAH — Mr. and Mrs. Harry Anderson announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Alice Joyce Anderson to Mr. Walter Roach, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Roach, of Wisner, La.

The wedding will take place at the Tallulah Methodist Church on September 11 at 4:30 in the afternoon.

Miss Anderson is a graduate of the Tallulah High School and attended Northeast Junior College in Monroe. Mr. Roach attended Northeast Junior College and Louisiana State University. He is a veteran of World War II.

Friends are invited to the wedding and reception which will follow in the church parlors.

You can cut down on fatigue if you sit down while you iron. If possible do your ironing at one of the boards that can be adjusted to your height. If you must use the usual type of board, try sitting on a kitchen stool that is high enough to bring you comfortably up (elbow height) to the board. A stool with a back rest is a help. And remember that a wide ironing board allows you to cut down on ironing motions.

AREA GROUP VALUES PTA — Participating actively in a special Parent-Teacher conference on the Northeast State campus are: Mrs. Virgil Crawford, first vice-president of the Twin City Council; Mrs. Carl J. Thompson, president; Dean William M. Smith, of Northeast, who has endorsed a unit of PTA study in teacher education at the college; Mrs. F. D. Luton, 5th District director. Trim Inches With Exercises

For you teen-agers who are dissatisfied with the way your figure looks in a bathing suit, what about a summer exercising program that will get your figure in perfect shape for the new school term?

Find out what your figure problems are and do the exercises that will help to correct them. By September, your figure should show vast improvement.

To take inches off your waistline (so you'll have that doll-sized look for your new fall skirts) try these simple exercises.

First, sit on the floor with your legs extended flat in front of you, feet and knees together. Try to touch your toes with your nose. Of course, you can't expect to do this the first time you try it. But each day you try it, you'll get closer and closer.

Next, in standing position, with feet far apart, bend at the waist and touch the floor at right with both hands. Your knees shouldn't be stiff or straight, but slightly flexed.

If you want to streamline your hips, exercise will help you. There's one exercise called the "rocking chair" that's fun to do. Just sit with crossed feet, hands on knees, and rock back and forth on your hips. Do this until you begin to feel the pull on your hips.

To flatten the tummy, lie on the floor and lift your feet to a 45-degree angle; then lower them, keeping your knees straight, slowly to the count of 10. Feel that pull? Then you know you're doing the exercise correctly.

Swimming Class Of 'Y' Will Be Held During Week

In response to many requests from parents whose sons received swimming instructions in the day camping program, the Twin Cities Y. M. C. A. recently announced that swimming classes will be continued for both beginners and advanced swimmers. The beginners group meets from 9:30 — 10:30 a. m. each Monday and Thursday at Swayze Natatorium (Forsythe Park Pool). The advanced group meets from 9:30 — 10:30 a. m. each Tuesday and Friday also at Swayze Natatorium. Both groups assemble at 9:15 a. m. at the Twin Cities YMCA day camp shelter to the rear of the American Legion home in Forsythe Park.

These classes are open to any boy age six to 13 in Monroe and West Monroe. No fees are required and the only eligibility requirement is a Twin Cities YMCA youth membership. A competitive team will be organized for the advanced swimmers which will compete against other YMCA teams around the state.

All classes are conducted according to the National YMCA Aquatic Program for both beginners and advanced swimmers. The National YMCA Aquatic Program takes the swimmer or non-swimmer and enables him to progress step by step until the pupil is an expert swimmer. YMCA aquatics can be characterized rather simply as embodying fun, safety, and service for individuals and groups.

Each class is limited to 30 boys, so assure your son of a reservation by calling Twin Cities YMCA at 5-2353.

Catahoula Reports First Cotton Boll

JONESVILLE, July 31 (Special) — Charlie Carroll, of Harrisonburg, is the first Catahoula parish farmer to report an open cotton boll at the office of the Catahoula News, parish newspaper.

Carroll reported a cotton boll Tuesday morning, barely beating Elvin Hutchins of Jonesville, who turned in a cotton boll Tuesday afternoon.

Louis Ratcliff of Sicily Island and Lankston Cruse of Wallace Ridge were the first farmers reporting a cotton bloom, both of June 8.

A molded cottage cheese salad makes a pretty buffet table addition when it is put in a ring mold and its center is filled with cubes of fresh fruit. Surround the cheese-and-fruit ring with water cress or curly chicory.

State PTA Head Emphasizes Goals At Northeast Meeting

Building harmony between school and home is the chief objective of the Parent-Teacher Association. This ideal was emphasized by Mrs. J. S. Goff of Shreveport and president of the state organization, during a meeting of school representatives and parents at Northeast State.

Several state, district and Twin City Council P.T. A. officers and committee chairmen participated in the conference which was held in the campus home of President and Mrs. Lewis C. Slater.

The event was planned in connection with a P.T. A. unit of study prepared this summer by Northeast students in education 152, a class taught by Mrs. Margaret Newman of the college faculty.

Ultimate use of any project sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association should be beneficial to a large group of children, Mrs. Goff said. She emphasized the value of keeping in close touch with legislation as a channel for effecting improved conditions for children.

The organization initiates legislation in many cases or it may lend vital support to bills, Mrs. Goff referred to the active interest of the group in bills pertaining to child safety such as factors involving school buses, crowded intersections and stock laws.

Significance of providing financial support to the P.T. A. was also stressed by the speaker. Monetary aid should be recognized however, as a means — not an end, she insisted. She advocated one strong money raising project as an annual part of a unit's program.

Mrs. J. W. Ward, educational chairman of the state organization, emphasized the problem of the teen-age child. She placed the responsibility for his happy adjustment upon the home and school. "Whenever a child is not adjusted, his environment reflects this difficulty which must be overcome to provide happiness and normal development which are rightfully his."

Stabilizing local P.T. A. units was emphasized by Mrs. Irvin R. Reynolds, state budget chairman. She advocated estimating costs of projects, then reaching a decision instead of changing plans which might lead to a feeling of instability.

Stimulating interest in the organization's membership was given special consideration at the meet-specific problems. This plan gives opportunity to determine what parents are eager to see achieved through the organization.

Brass, copper, iron and galvanized kettles should not be used when making pickles as these metals are likely to cause undesirable color changes or react with the acid or salt to produce unwholesome substances. Use enameled ware, glass, aluminum, stainless steel or stoneware utensils for your pickle making.

Better Be Safe Than Sorry

Today begins National Farm Safety week. Farm people are urged to "farm to live and live to farm." Remember safety pays and accidents never just happen—they're caused. Statistics show that every twenty-six seconds—two a minute—during the year, a disabling injury will strike some farm person. Every hour of every day, four farm buildings will be destroyed by fire. Motor vehicles are responsible for the greatest number of accidents to farm people.

In 1952 38,000 deaths were caused by highway accidents—27,000 of these were on rural highways. There were 1,350,000 persons injured in highway accidents in 1952—of these 550,000 were on rural highways. The economic loss was enormous—$3,750,000,000. One in every three tractor fatalities reported involved persons under 20 years of age. One in every 10 was a child under 5 years of age. Remove hazards, avoid risks and reduce accidents.

Flower Beds For Annuals:

The L. S. U. garden specialist recommends letting the flower beds, where you plant annuals, stay empty in August. Work them up, fertilize them, and then let them be exposed to the hot sun for the month will be beneficial in many ways.

Hibiscus

A new bulletin has been written on hibiscus by R. H. Hanchey and W. D. Kimbrough of L. S. U. research department. The extension service has requested a number of these bulletins for the people of Ouachita Parish. You will be notified through the various columns of extension service when these bulletins have been received.

Mr. Hanchey and Mr. Kimbrough will have a program at Farm and Home Week August 9-12. You are invited to hear them.

Family Life

Happy family life, guidance of the young, character development, and growing older gracefully are some of the topics to be emphasized in the Family Life section during Farm and Home Week. Many of you have been enjoying the programs given at the Home Demonstration Club on family life. You will benefit by attending these lectures.

Bus Transportation

Correction: Woodlawn has paid for three persons's transportation to short course instead of only two. The bus going to Farm and Home Week will leave the agricultural building August 9 at 6 a.m. Every one going on this bus is urged to be on time.

It will be necessary for each one attending the course staying in dormitories, to carry bed linens, a pillow, (if you have to have one) towels and toilet articles. An electric fan will make your stay in the dormitory more comfortable. The group will return Friday, August 13 around noon.

Products For The Pantry

Every housewife is proud of a pantry filled with beautiful products. Some homemade peach preserves will add variety to those winter meals. I have just made my supply and I used the recipe supplied us by our specialist, Miss Estelle Fournet. Try it:

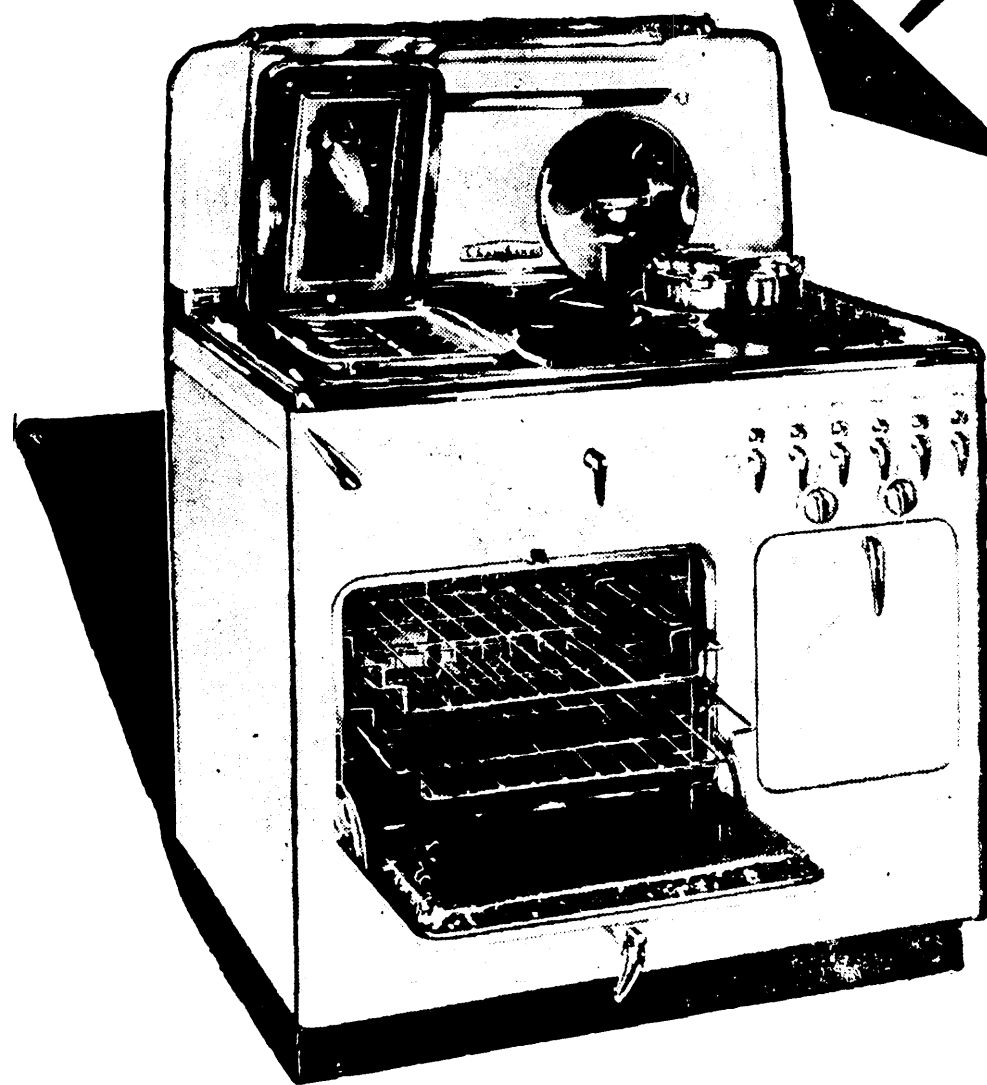

3 lbs. peaches, peeled and stoned, 6 cups water, 3 peach kernels, 2 1/2 lbs. sugar, bring sugar and water to a boil - add peaches and peach kernels. (Fruit pieces should be uniform in size so they will cook evenly.) Never cook more than 6 lbs. of fruit at a time. Cook until peaches are clear and transparent and syrup is the consistency of honey. Remove from fire, let stand overnight in a covered vessel. Pack in sterilized jars and seal - process for 30 minutes at simmering temperature.

You don't have to stick to "periods" when you are furnishing a room. Ever notice how well a modern painting looks over a Victorian love seat or marble-topped table? Or how attractive an ornate Victorian lamp looks when it has a simple modern shade?

Seventh Academic Dean Appointed At All Saints'

VICKSBURG, July 31 (Special) — On September 1st Miss Katherine R. Donaldson, of Pittsburgh, Pa., will become the seventh academic dean of All Saints' Episcopal Junior College, succeeding Miss Dorothy H. Gaylord, who is now connected with Endicott Junior College in Beverly, Mass.

Miss Donaldson holds an A. B. degree and a master's in education from the University of Pittsburgh. She has taught art during most of her career and for fifteen years was supervisor of art in the Pittsburgh public schools. She has also taught summer courses in State Teachers' College and Pennsylvania State College Demonstration School. She is certified in Pennsylvania and Ohio for permanent college certificate in fine arts, industrial arts (crafts), English, history and biology.

In speaking of Miss Donaldson's appointment as academic dean, the Rev. W. G. Christian said, "I feel that Miss Donaldson's wealth of experience in art and in the field of education, plus her devotion to young people, makes her particularly well prepared for the position at All Saints'."

Miss Donaldson is an Episcopalian who for many years has been a devoted and active member of St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Pittsburgh. While she is an artist in her own right, her main interest has been in teaching art. She will hold this position at All Saints' as well as that of academic dean.

REV. RALPH JOHNSON

1st Methodists In W. Monroe To Hold Revival

Rev. W. D. Milton has announced there will be a revival meeting at the church beginning Sunday, August 8, and running through August 22nd.

Rev. Ralph Johnson, Jackson, Tenn., will be the evangelist and will be assisted in the youth and children's work, and at the piano, by Miss Roberta Hall.

Rev. Johnson will conduct four services daily: Morning service at 10 a. m., children's service at 4 p. m., young people's service at 6:30 p. m., and evening service at 7:30.

Rev. Johnson has conducted two other revivals here in the past and is very well known. About twenty years ago, he was here in a revival with a copyrighted program for young people and also acted as singer at that particular time. About ten years ago, he was here and, with the help of his wife, conducted both the singing and preaching for the meeting.

MISS ROBERTA HALL

A cordial invitation is extended by the church to residents of the Twin Cities to worship in the air conditioned auditorium during each of the worship services. Nurses will be open at all services.

DR. BRUCE FACUNDUS

1st Lieutenant Commission Given Dr. Facundus

Dr. Bruce E. Facundus, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Bruce Facundus, Route 2, Monroe, and husband of the former Marie Greely, of St. Petersburg, Fla., has been given a first lieutenant commission in the United States Air Force, M. C. He is stationed at Walter Reed Army General Hospital, Washington, D. C.

Dr. Facundus graduated from Ouachita Parish High School in 1916. He received his B. S. degree with Summa Cum Laude honors from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute in 1920. He graduated from L. S. U. School of Medicine in May, 1924, as doctor of medicine.

While attending L. S. U. School of Medicine, he was vice-president of Alpha Omega Alpha national honorary medical society, 1923-24. He was also a member of the Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi, the Undergraduate Surgical society, and the Undergraduate Medical Society.

He was awarded certificates from the two last named societies in recognition of his scholarship, leadership and interest in the field of medical sciences. He was one of five students to receive the C. N. Mosby award for outstanding scholastic achievement during his course of study.

Youth Saves Friends Life

HARRISONBURG, Aug. 1 (Special) — By using a belt for a tourniquet, a Harrisonburg Boy Scout was credited with saving the life of a friend whose arm was slashed in an accident while skating here.

Cleveland Poole, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Pleas Poole of Harrisonburg, used a belt as a tourniquet to slow the flow of blood from the arm of Leroy McMillin Jr., 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy McMillin Sr.

The McMillin youth had a deep gash cut in the upper part of his arm when he fell into the glass section of a door while skating at the school here.

Joe Tom Trunzler, eight, ran for help while the Poole youngster, who had been taught first aid in Boy Scout work, used a belt to halt the flow of blood which was gushing from his arm.

Others arrived on the scene and rushed him to the clinic here. Dr. Hearn did emergency work, gave the youth blood plasma and sent him to the Baptist hospital in Alexandria.

Dr. Hearn said the youth lost a great deal of blood and it is very likely that the improvised tourniquet applied by the Poole boy saved his friend's life. "That boy should be given a medal for his quick and efficient work in an emergency," Dr. Hearn said.

Latest reports indicate that the youth will not lose the use of the arm, as was first feared shortly after the accident.

Your draperies should have linings. Linings not only save your drapery material from fading and soil, but also makes them look richer and easier to drape.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: I would not say that I have no use for religion, like the rest of my family, because I feel that there may perhaps be something in it. But I do not feel any need to become a Christian. I am not even sure that I am a sinner. I have looked at the Ten Commandments and can say, "All these I have kept from youth up." P. R. G.

ANSWER: Are you sure you are being quite honest with yourself? Do you really feel no sense of sin? And have you seriously looked at the Ten Commandments in the light of what Jesus said in the Sermon on the Mount?

Take, for example, His comment on the seventh commandment "Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not commit adultery: But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart" (Matthew 5:27, 28.) Jesus says that it is not only the sinful deed that matters in the sight of God. The lustful look is a breaking of His commandment as much as the adulterous act.

How do you fare in the light of this standard? What about the unclean thoughts and imaginations you have cherished? What about the unholy fires of passion that have burned within your soul? It may be that you have lived a fairly respectable life in the eyes of men. But it is not with man's judgment you are concerned now. God is your Judge; and He is of "purer eyes than to behold iniquity."

I beg of you to abandon your self-righteous attitude and humbly to acknowledge your sins. Get down on your knees and cry "God be merciful to me a sinner!" That is the first step towards seeking and finding the salvation of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Keep your handbag well stocked with facial tissues. They can be a saving factor in numerous little emergencies.

Rev. R. W. Wilson New Rayville Pastor

Rev. Richard W. Wilson, recently ordained a deacon in Christ Church cathedral in New Orleans, began his ministry at St. David's Episcopal Church in Rayville, July 11.

After operating for a number of years on a mission basis, the church will now have a permanent pastor. A vicarage, to be completed inside of four months, has already been begun.

Rev. Wilson is a native of New Orleans and graduated at Tulane with a degree in history. His theological studies began at St. Luke's seminary, Swann, Tenn., and he is a graduate of the General Theological seminary, New York City.

State Wide Methodist Churches To Assemble

Local Methodist churches throughout Louisiana will be represented by delegates to the annual Pastors' School and Woman's Society School of Missions on the Centenary College campus in Shreveport August 2-6.

The theme, "Show Us A New Thy Word," will be developed by the women in their 14th annual school. Four courses will be offered, as follows: "The City," taught by Mrs. George Metzger, secretary of missionary education in the East Oklahoma Conference; "India, Pakistan and Ceylon," Mrs. Leonard C. Summers; "That They May Have Life," Rev. George H. Dameron of Jonesboro; and "Jesus' Teachings Concerning Women," Miss Elizabeth Stinson, former Louisiana resident and now secretary of missionary education for the Woman's Division of the Methodist Board of Missions.

Workshops and leaders will be: "The Committee on Program at Work," Mrs. L. E. Knaptrick, Shreveport; "Organization and Work of the Woman's Society," Mrs. Lee Tidwell of Shreveport; "Methodist Women and the United Nations," Mrs. Charles F. Goldthwaite of New Orleans; and "Teaching Principles and Practices," Mrs. George W. Dameron, Jonesboro.

Mrs. Robles W. Davis of Gilliam is dean of the school. Mrs. William Watson of Homer will serve as librarian. Mrs. E. E. Stewart of Shreveport is registrar, and Mrs. L. L. Saxon is treasurer. Mrs. C. L. Jones of New Orleans is president of the Louisiana Conference Woman's Society.

Departmental clinics for the training of the district and local church officers will be taught by Mrs. L. B. Kilpatrick, vice president. Mrs. Tordella, promotion secretary. Mrs. Davis, missionary education secretary. Mrs. Goldthwaite, Christian social relations

Rev. Fred Mead Will Bring Revival Talks

The annual summer revival for the Boone Hope Methodist Church will begin Sunday, August 1, and continue through Sunday, August 8.

The morning services will be at 9 a. m. and the evening services at 7:45 p. m.

The messages will be brought by the pastor, Rev. Fred A. Mead. A number of tons will serve to keep the church comfortable and the public is cordially invited.

REV. KENNETH MCDOWELL

Lake Providence Has Revival Slated

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — Rev. Kenneth McDowell, Vivian, La., will be guest speaker at a revival held in the First Methodist Church here August 2 to 6 at 7:30 nightly.

LaMar Robertson of Shreveport will have charge of the singing. A well attended folk festival was held Friday night.

1st Baptists In W. M. Opening Revival Series

Rev. Angel Martinez, renowned Baptist evangelist, will preach in a revival crusade at the First Baptist Church of West Monroe, beginning Sunday, August 1. Coming from a like crusade in Lake Charles, La., where nearly 100 souls were saved, Mr. Martinez is expected to fill the air conditioned auditorium to capacity at each service. The crusade will continue through August 15 and services will be held nightly at 7:30.

Evangelist Martinez has preached more than 6,500 sermons in the 18 years of his ministry. Having been called to preach at the early age of 15, he has preached in every state where southern Baptists serve and has the distinction of having held 52 revivals in Louisville, Ky., over a period of 4 years. He is known as an unusual Bible scholar, having committed to memory the entire New Testament.

His messages are dynamic and, according to Rev. Jacob Weber, pastor of the First Baptist Church, many visitors are expected from a radius of 100 miles.

The church invites residents of the Twin Cities to hear this evangelist each night during the crusade, August 1-15.

Alabama Church Starting Today On Week Revival

The revival at Alabama Presbyterian Church five miles north of Choudrant will begin Sunday August 1 and extend through August 8. Services each morning 11 a. m., evening 8 p. m.

The services will be conducted by Rev. John W. Lancaster, pastor of the First Southern Presbyterian Church in Austin, Tex. Mr. Lancaster is a graduate of Austin College, Sherman, Tex., B.A. 1947; Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va., B.D. 1950. Since graduation from seminary, Mr. Lancaster has served two churches: First Presbyterian Church, Bay City, Tex., June, '50-Oct. '53. First Southern Presbyterian Church, Austin, Tex., Nov. '53-present.

He is active in the work of the Synod of Texas serving on the Synod's Council and as chairman of Synod's Causes for the Presbyterian of Central Texas. He also serves on the Christian Education Committee of Central Texas Presbytery on Men's Work.

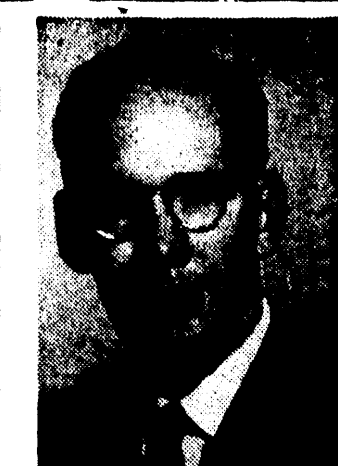

The morning services will be messages from the Psalms. The evening messages will be evangelistic sermons.

This is a traditional week of great spiritual emphasis in the life of this church and community. We welcome friends from over north Louisiana to attend this special series in this century old rural Presbyterian Church.

Point Baptists To Have Revival Series

There will be a meeting in the Baptist Church, Point La., starting today and ending a week later, Rev. C. W. Ward, pastor of the Providence Baptist Church will be the speaker.

Services nightly at 8 o'clock.

DR. DAVID I. STITT

Dr. David Stitt Will Preach To Presbyterians

Dr. David I. Stitt, who will supply the pulpit at the First Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning is a pastor of experience in both ministerial and educational fields.

As president of Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary since 1945, he has guided the phenomenal program of growth and development that has resulted in a large enrollment increase.

After holding a pastorate in Haskell, Tex., Dr. Stitt was called to Westminster Presbyterian Church in St. Louis, Mo., as assistant to Dr. William Crowe, Sr. On Dr. Crowe's departure to Alabama, Dr. Stitt was called as pastor of Westminster church and served there until 1945.

Other church activities are as follows:

President Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary, 1945 to date. Member, General Assembly's Home Mission Committee. Member, Defense Service Council Secretary, committee on Cooperation and Union.

Fraternity delegate to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church U. S. A. in 1945.

Director, Young People's Conference in Missouri for several years.

District Three, Baptist Preacher Group To Meet

Dr. T. W. Gayer, prominent Baptist denominational leader, will be the featured speaker at the Monday meeting of the district three Baptist preachers' conference. The meeting will get under way at 10:00 a. m. in the First Baptist Church of Columbia, where Dr. George Jenkins is the pastor.

Dr. Gayer is currently working with the department of promotions with headquarters in Louisiana. He will speak on the huge campaign of stewardship revivals planned over the entire Southern Baptist Convention for October 31 - November 7.

Dr. Gayer is the former president of the Baptist Children's Home here, has served two terms as president of the Louisiana Baptist State Convention, as executive secretary of the executive board and has pastored some of the outstanding churches of Louisiana.

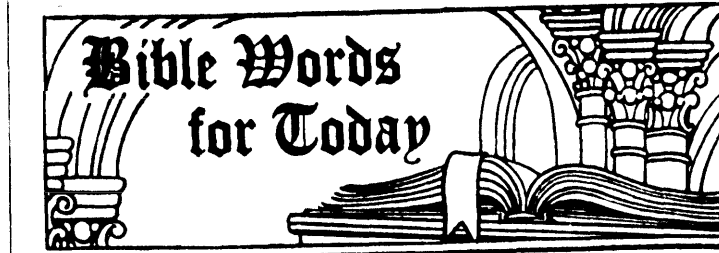

He is a much sought after speaker and a large group of pastors from the twin city, Bastrop and Columbia areas are expected to attend according to Rev. O. P. Bazer, secretary of the conference. The meeting will be presided over by Rev. A. T. Mitchell, president of the group. New officers will be elected for the coming year and an executive board meeting of the district convention will be held in conjunction with the meeting. Dr. Tommy Welch will bring an exposition of the scriptures at the meeting. Lunch will be served by the host church.

No Purse Needed Says Evangelist

A gospel meeting will be held in the Cheniere Church of Christ August 2 through August 11. Night services at 7:30 p. m.

E. H. Miller, of La Grange, Ill., will preach and he says bring a friend but leave that pocket book at home.

ROMANS 12:21—"Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good."

If there is one factor that characterizes our epoch it is the widespread and burdened consciousness that humanity is now up against enormous and formidable evils. The genius of Christianity's new approach to the problem of evil is superbly summarized in this brief formula of St. Paul.

We might find the clue to believing and accepting it in what any good mother does when she copes with her children. The best child will wake up some morning out of sorts, complaining, whining, antisocial and apparently spoiled and difficult. But watch the subtle art of maternal love go into operation. The mother overlooks much, absorbs the trouble herself without any vengeful feeling, and gradually weans and wins the child out of this miserable black mood to a different and happier approach to life. Not being willing to be overcome by evil, she overcomes evil in her child with the good of her love.

St. Paul has the daring to assert that this formula may find widespread application in the world. The great question is whether we dare to believe this, are willing to try it and exercise all our intelligence and ingenuity, heart and courage in putting it to the test.

THE HOME SHIFT—

Check Flowers For Weeds, Bugs

Though the weather is uncomfortably warm, there are garden jobs to be done. To neglect these jobs now means trouble later on. Let's look into some of those garden chores so necessary at this time.

Look at the lawn. It has to be kept mowed and weeded. Set the mower blade at least two inches higher. Grass cut too close allows the sun to bake the roots. After mowing there's the hand trimming to do around the trees, the paths and driveway. This grooming gives your garden "Umph."

Keep flowers and vegetable plantings checked for weeds and bugs. Cultivate shallowly — from a half inch to an inch. Most plants have shallow roots. Keep much replenished to protect the roots from sun and to control weeds. If the weeds get a head start on you while you're vacationing, cut them off if they're close to the roots of good plants. Otherwise, you'll disturb the root growth of your plant.

More Jobs
Keep the blooms picked, gather vegetables as they mature, keep dead plantings carried off. Put all this on the compost heap, if it's insect free. Keep the compost pile wet and turned once a month. It's your least expensive form of compost that is so necessary for plant growth.

Watch evergreens for red spider. Run the finger on the under side of a leaf. If there's a red mudge — Mr. Red Spider is there. A light dusting with sulphur will keep him under control.

Watch tall growing plants. Stake them where necessary to keep them from toppling over when they get tall.

Is This Your Mistake?
Are you holding your child up to achievements that are beyond him? Are you making him feel that it is his achievements you love and not him? Then don't get upset if your youngster tells an occasional lie. If he falls below that standard you've set, he's probably not mature enough to face you with his failure. He loves you and wants to please you, so the easiest way out is a little lie. What must you do? Well — I'm no specialist in child care but it seems to me a lot of love along with letting him know that you love him and not his achievements.

Some Fall Highlights
Here are some top styles for fall.

The bloused dress. It's an easy relaxed silhouette that doesn't reveal every bulge of the figure. It's easy to wear, and it's usually worn with a slim skirt.

Some suits will have a bloused jacket worn with a belt, with matching slim dress or skirt, or there's the loose, boxy short jacket which may be semi-fitted in front, loose in back.

Again we'll see the barrel coat. This is rounded above slightly tapered at the hemline, loose and comfortable. The stylists say wear this coat slightly shorter than the skirt.

The middie is back in favor along with the sailor collar. You'll wear the low, open neckline, the costume suit, combinations of satin and tweed and wide collars on coats, suits, and blouses.

In Between Season
About this time of year a woman's wardrobe needs replenishing. The summer clothes are looking shop worn, it's too early for fall dresses. The answer is winter cotton, linen and washable flannel. Never has linen been so accepted as in 1954. The new linens don't muss, crease or shrink. Select a pattern for your fall linen that has few pleats. The very fact that the material is crease resistant makes it more difficult to press creases in pleats.

Never overlook winter cottons for that in-between-season, well dressed look. The teen-age group will be interested in the new cotton permanently pleated materials. These pleats stay in after washing. Just give them gentle handling. Rubbing and twisting tend to disturb pleats. After washing let pleats drip dry. Put your dresses on shaped hangers, then smooth and straighten pleats with your fingers.

What would great-grandmother say if she could see the new washable flannels? Well — it's here in the shops and is very beautiful. The colors are so lovely. There are twin patterns for suits and two piece dresses to bridge this in-between season.

Try Some Designs At Home

There is still time to send in your charter membership to the Louisiana Society for Horticultural Research. Send your membership to Mrs. U. B. Evans, Harpazard Plantation, Ferriday, La. Propagations of the plants collected on this first trip of Ike Nelson's to Brazil will be divided among charter members of the society.

The very welcome showers have brought into glorious bloom our pink rain lilies and lily-of-the-valleys. The pink rain lily is zephyranthes carinata, which means flower of the west wind, what a delightful name for this dainty little flower. Both of these are very rewarding additions to any garden.

Mrs. J. M. Pickle and Mrs. Frank Parrish of Ruston judged our flower show this week. Outstanding arrangements were exhibited by members of the Garden Study Club of Monroe.

First place was awarded to Mrs. Archie Dickerson. Using a footed milk glass container, Mrs. Dickerson created a beautiful line mass design of variegated aspidistra, ligustrum berries and blooms of the cerise lily.

Mrs. John P. Lewis was awarded second place. Mrs. Lewis designed a most distinctive vertical arrangement in a tall milk glass container placed on a teakwood stand. Spikes of equisetum were used for height, a line of variegated ivy was brought down through the design to the base of the container with a focal point of ligustrum berries and white oleander blossoms.

Third place awarded to Mrs. John Seegin for a beautiful mass arrangement. Tall stalks of montbretia were used in the background with furred maroon canna leaves. The focal point was of red variegated coleus leaves and salmon celosia.

In the horticulture section a blue ribbon was awarded to Mrs. John P. Lewis for a double pink allinea. Red ribbons awarded to Mrs. John Seegin for rose oleander and Mrs. Archie Dickerson for white crepe myrtle.

I want to tell you of some of the outstanding arrangements made by Mrs. Ben Coulter for the Wisner Garden Club recently. "Long lasting arrangements for the tired gardener." Here they are: a neutral gray pillow vase was used for vertical lines of banana leaves and broad green canna foliage with a focal point of green veined white caladium leaves. This arrangement gives you a feeling of emotional vigor, dignity and coolness. In a low dark green cornucopia moving lines of furred aspidistra were used with a large white magnolia blossom at the base of the container. Another lovely arrangement was made in an oblong dark green container. This was a symmetrical design in shades of chartreuse, tropical green and darker green. Seven yucca spikes were used for the primary placements, five stalks of roadside dock in shades of green, three lengths of light green ribbon grass, and three sprays of waxed leaf holly, with a cluster of variegated coleus as a focal point. This pleasing analogy stressed the elements of line and rhythm, form and texture. Let's try some of these long lasting arrangements in our homes.

To clean a paint brush full of old dried paint, soak the brush in turpentine until the paint is softened. Then wash in lukewarm soapsuds several times and rinse.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Duo-pianists Michael Field and Vera Appleton, with composer Norman Dello-Joio, as they discuss the score of a work he has composed especially for them.

Here Are A Few Secrets Of Enduring Friendship

Friendship is one of the richest ingredients in life. It adds color and comfort, stimulation and fun to daily living. In thinking of friendship and what makes it last and prosper over the years, I thought of that wonderful team of pianists, Michael Field and Vera Appleton.

These two have acquired enviable distinction as soloists, because of appearances with symphony orchestras, and as recording artists. They are equally famous for their interpretation of the classics and contemporary two-piano music. For 10 years their joint career has thrown them together under the most trying circumstances. Through tours, with all of the boredom of constant travel and the tensions of frequent performances, they have remained good friends who enjoy one another's company, and have no disruptive quarrels or misunderstandings.

"Good Manners"

These young American duo-pianists do a far-flung annual concert tour which throws them together more frequently, and for longer periods, than is required of most friends. I asked Mr. Field what qualities in Vera made her so easy to get along with; how they avoid the squabbles which most people brew when working so closely together. He said:

"First, Vera is an unusual woman in that she never presumes on friendship, even a 10-year one like ours. Also, there is no substitute for good manners. I can't remember any time when Vera treated me with less good manners than she would treat a person she had just met. She never puts one on the defensive.

"Another thing, she is not a fast-moving companion. She doesn't feel that she must 'make conversation.' She knows when to be silent. Just because we travel together doesn't mean that we are bound to spend all of our time together. She gets interested in other passengers, takes naps and reads, on a long train hop.

"Another quality which makes her an unusual woman is the fact she doesn't rely heavily on chivalry but is eager to do her share of concert chores, such as checking the concert hall, the lights, pianos and so forth."

Then Michael Field said, "I have not said the most important thing. She laughs at my jokes."

Naturally Cheerful

Later on, Miss Appleton added her ideas about why their relationship is so easy and friendly. She said, "I think the most important contributing element is the fact that Michael is a naturally cheerful person. Optimistic. You don't have to exhaust yourself building up his morale. He's one person who has a built-in morale. I am a bit inclined to take a dim view of things, but I don't do it with him. It would be unfair. And you know, since I've been trying not to take the gloomy view with him about things, I don't believe I do it with other people! My goodness, that's wonderful!"

Teen-Agers Injured In Auto Wreck

One of three occupants of a fast-moving automobile which crashed into a telephone pole and overturned late Friday night was still confined to St. Francis Sanitarium yesterday, hospital attendants reported.

The boy, Wade Brown, 16, 2900 Gordon Avenue, suffered a broken left leg, but was not seriously injured otherwise. Driver of the car, William Yates, 16, 2310 Lee Avenue, suffered a laceration of the wrist, but was not confined to the hospital, and Jimmy Whittington, about 16, 3005 Richmond was not injured.

Police said the automobile skidded 300 feet, hit the telephone pole and sheered off, overturning and skidded 65 feet further on its top, and then righted itself. It was a total loss.

The accident occurred while the car was headed north in the 4200 block of South Grand street about 10:30 p.m. Friday. Police said the driver told them he was going "60 or 70" miles per hour.

Start Baptists In Midst Of Revival

1. MUST WE STOP THINKING CONTINUALLY ABOUT RAISING LIVING STANDARDS?
YES ☐ NO ☐

2. IS THERE ONE FEAR THAT IS UNIVERSAL?
YES ☐ NO ☐

3. IS THE GOLDEN RULE A LAW OF NATURE?
YES ☐ NO ☐

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes, says Samuel Ordway in his challenging book, "Resources and the American Dream." He shows we are using our resources faster than any known science can replace them. If our population continues to expand, we can't go on consuming more than the earth produces. He argues we must keep the high standard of living we have, but develop higher spiritual values to live for, or else face a possible crumbling of our civilization. A challenging prospect!

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes. Consulting psychologist David Mitchell found the fear, "I won't make good," is the most universal of all. He devised a simple method of curing it — and many other fears. His method is fully explained in our booklet, "The Conquest of Fear," sent at cost, 15 cents (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes. Darwin thought life evolved by fighting, resulting in the "survival of the fittest." Partly true, but Kropotkin showed there is also the "Law of Mutual Aid," by which animals form groups to help each other — a form of the Golden Rule. Alfred Adler, psychologist said someday man will follow the Golden Rule of Nature as naturally as he breathes.

City Detectives Report Friday 'Frustrating'

For Monroe city detectives, Friday night was just one frustrating experience after another, they reported Saturday.

Three times during the night they received complaints of what appeared to be law violations, but in each case they found no arrest was possible.

Twice they received complaints of gambling, one a Negro dice game near a local bar and the other a card game at a local furniture store. They checked both of them, but under Louisiana's gambling laws the only person who can be charged is the operator of the game, and only then if he is receiving a set profit.

At both places, detectives were informed there was no percentage going to the operator. The dice game broke up, but the other continued.

The third incident involved a man with an apparent method for beating the transportation problem. He went to a used car lot, told attendants he wanted to buy a car, and took it with him to "test" it.

The used car lot attendant called police when he found out the man did the same thing as a regular practice, and never bought a car. They could do nothing.

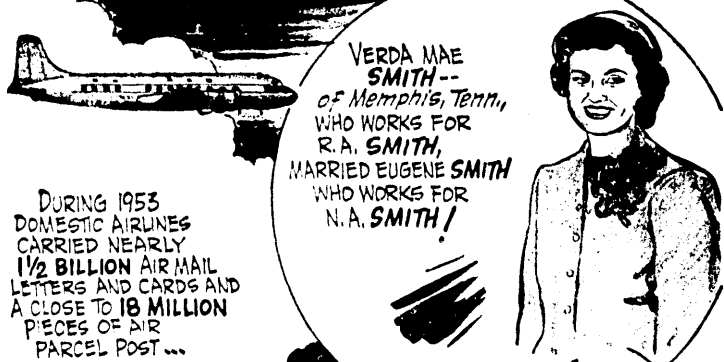

The car was not stolen, since he brought it back. It was not "unauthorized use of a movable" because the attendant authorized him to take it. In short, the attendant was just out the price of gasoline in the car.

Name Chairman Of Girl Scouts For Local Area

Mrs. S. L. Hartman, of Farmerville, was elected chairman of the Northeast Louisiana Area Study meeting of representatives held at the Bayou de l'Inde Country club recently. Miss Martha D. Auten, member of the national field staff of Girl Scouts met with the group and Mrs. James N. Riddle, president as temporary chairman.

Reports were given from the following committees: camping, troop organization, training, staff and officer public relations, finance, and program. These groups had met with Miss Auten as consultant, July 19-27.

After reports were discussed the following communities voted for further studies: Monroe, Bastrop, Tallulah, Columbia, and Farmerville. Other communities may come into the area and ultimately the group may be spread over the entire Fifth district, with exception of Ruston which has voted to continue studies in their area.

The chairman named Mrs. Riddle to arrange for the next meeting, September 16. Plans will include meetings of the seven subcommittees.

The following will serve as permanent representatives from their communities: Monroe, Mrs. George P. Forman, Mrs. S. C. Straussner, Mrs. James Riddle; Columbia, Marcus Thornhill, Wayne Brockner, Mrs. Mabel Bennett; Tallulah, C. E. Hester, Mrs. Jack Folk, Mrs. LeRoy Smith; Bastrop, Mrs. Minza Raburn, Miss Ruth Spier, Mrs. Willie Mae Rush; Farmerville, Mr. Hartman, Mrs. W. A. Downs and J. T. Spencer.

Sports And Theatrics

By JACK PALANCE

(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, July 31. — My dramatic moments in sport and theatrics?

It is with a deep-felt personal pleasure I take over this space for my friend, Jimmie Fidler.

I'd like to take this opportunity to discuss some impressive moments in my life in two guiding interests — sports and theatrics.

And to begin with, one of the most recent dramatic moments was getting the role of Simon the Magician in the film version of Thomas B. Costain's best-seller,

"The Silver Chalice." In reading the novel many months ago, I was most immediately impressed by the theatrical plum — like qualities of enacting "The Sorcerer" who came so close to becoming the father of a lasting religious sect.

I wondered and hoped — and here I am at the Warner Studios in the Hollywood version of The Great Pretender.

Why sports? I'm still an actor who first turns to the sports section of any newspaper I read. Here I believe is the greatest drama.

What actor can give so many people the theatrically dramatic moments that Jackie Robinson can give or has given on almost any day in his exciting baseball career?

Who can miss the excitement and drama of seeing a bat in the hands of Stan Musial, and who can forget Bobby Thomson's September 1951 ninth-inning homerun which gave the Giants the National League pennant over the Brooklyn Dodgers?

And what about Roger Bannister's first miracle mile that splashed onto the front pages of newspapers all over the world? Here is drama, raw, true and devoid of artifice. To me it is the most dramatic because it is in competition, a desire to live which is fulfilled through triumph — over opponents, over fate, over self. The champion wins not because he looks like a winner, but because he is a winner.

Remember Rocky Marciano's knockout of Joe Louis? My wife and I were in the packed Madison Square Garden that night and COLLENS...

Let Us Fix Your TRUSS

era ended. The feeling that literally swept through the Garden the moment Joe went down, completely helpless, was like nothing else I have ever experienced. There were tears and sobs on all sides, and my wife collapsed with a scream.

The name Joe Louis had been synonymous with everything that cried out for dramatic self-expression and recognition within each and every one of us. And now he was on the floor. I think the feeling was the realization of finality. The feeling of the beginning and the end. And 18,000 of us sat there helpless, all part of the inevitable. Dramatic moments in theatrics have been manifold.

For an actor, competition is diffuse and intangible. He is sometimes as dedicated to a task of creating a work of art, fashioning a thing of beauty out of that which to others is part of the commonplace. But he is more often solely dedicated to the proposition that all men and women and children are born hungry and remain so as long as they live; and here is an easy way to still the pangs — if he gets that break of which he is always so deserving. Deserving, at least, because he has been so patient. So many of us look like actors, and occasionally this is enough.

I remember John Gielgud's performance in "The Importance of Being Earnest." This, I think, is the finest individual performance I have ever seen. I remember leaving the theater thinking I had seen a mirage. This was perfection.

And I had that feeling again the night I saw "A Streetcar Named Desire" for the first time. Play and players just fused into one experience that left me aware of the possibility of the absolute.

Another standout for me was Lee Cobb's portrayal in "Death of a Salesman." I saw him four times and realized that acting would be a slow process of arriving at the actor's ultimate. The ethereal ultimate which is gone when the play or picture is gone.

I have always admired Fredric March — he has given me many great moments of the dramatic. And it would be difficult to forget wonderfully dramatic moments given by Laurence Olivier, Bette Davis and Vivien Leigh — and of the greatest of all time — Leslie Howard.

And now, thinking of the excitement that these people who are actors, not because of what they look like, but can give — I find myself happy to be in competition with the intangible. Here one must create with nothing visible to lean on and if one can learn to lean on the invisible, then he indeed is a creator.

Although goats usually are easily distinguished from sheep, some breeds of hair sheep are distinguished by laymen only because their tails point down instead of upward as in goats.

HEG- THE MASTER SPY-- SEARCHING FOR THE MYSTERIOUS SECRET COMMAND-ER OF THE PATROL

JADE, TELL ME EXACTLY WHAT YOU SAW AT THE JUNGLE PATROL.

HONEST, MR. HEG, I DIDN'T SEE ANY-THING.

Commander JUNGLE PATROL

"EXCEPT FOR A BIG SAFE THE ROOM WAS BARE--NO WINDOWS--NO OTHER DOORS--" CONTINUES JADE--

ORDERS FROM THE COMMANDER ARE FOUND IN THE SAFE. NO ONE KNOWS HOW THEY GET THERE.

NOW WILL YOU LET ME GO?

NOT JUST YET.

NOW I THINK I CAN FIND HIM!

SEE THAT YOU DO, HEG!

OBVIOUSLY, THERE MUST BE A TUNNEL LEADING TO THE SAFE. I'LL STUDY THIS MAP OF THE JUNGLE PATROL H.Q.--AND SEE WHERE THE TUNNEL STARTS--

HIGHWAYS ON THREE SIDES-- TOO MUCH TRAFFIC-- HMM--

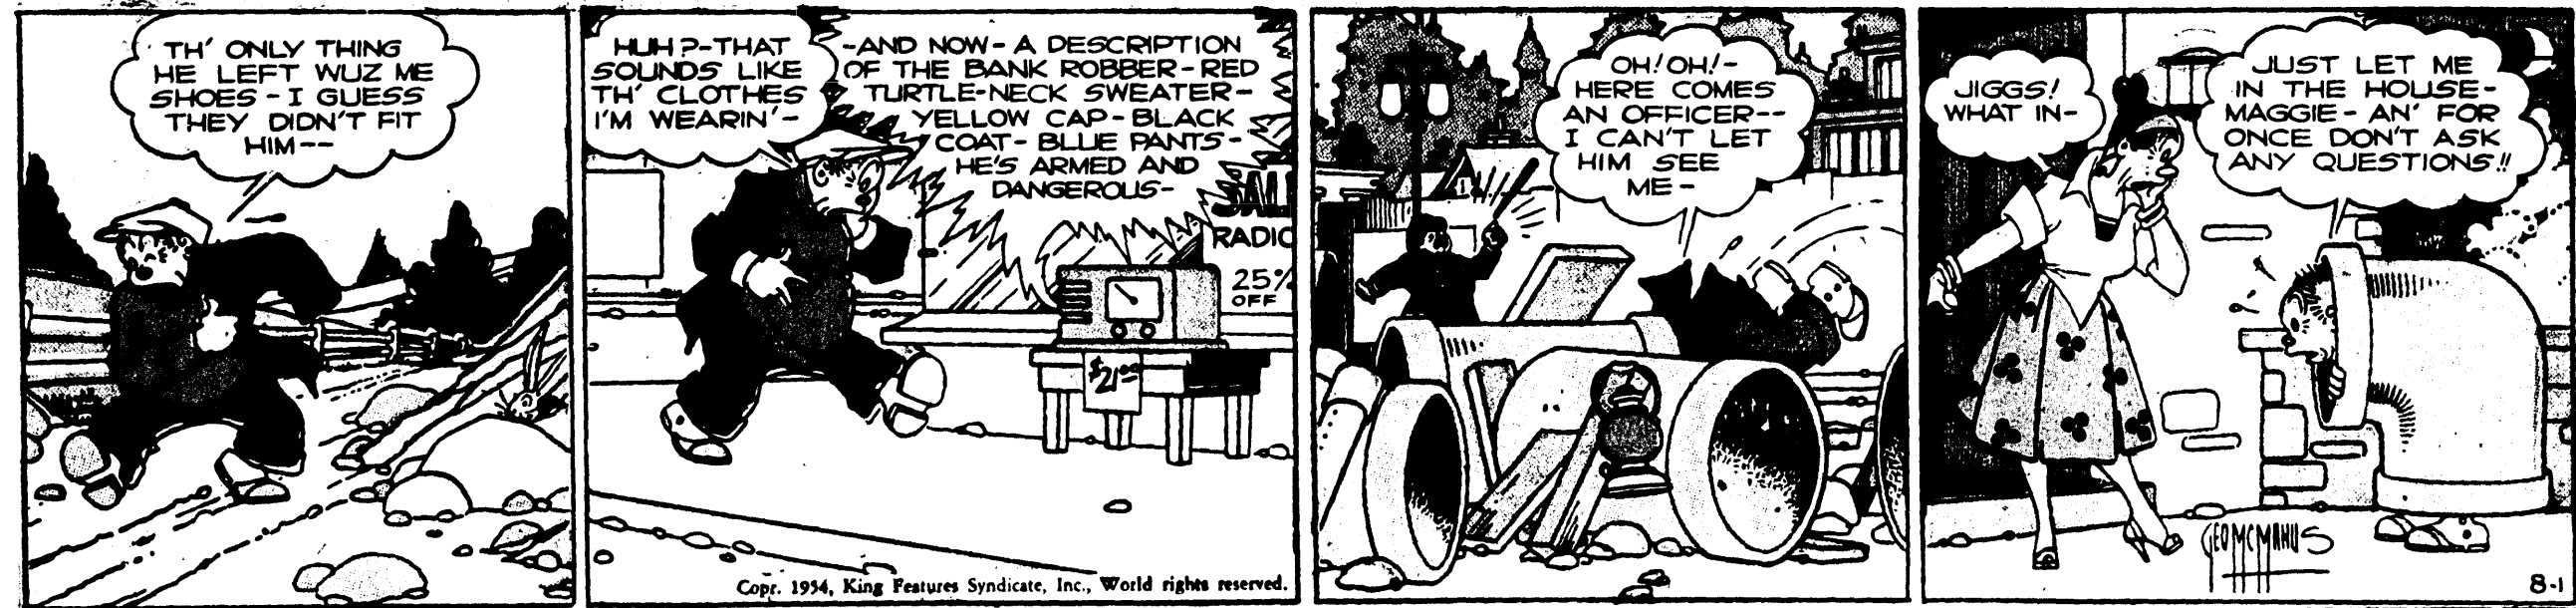

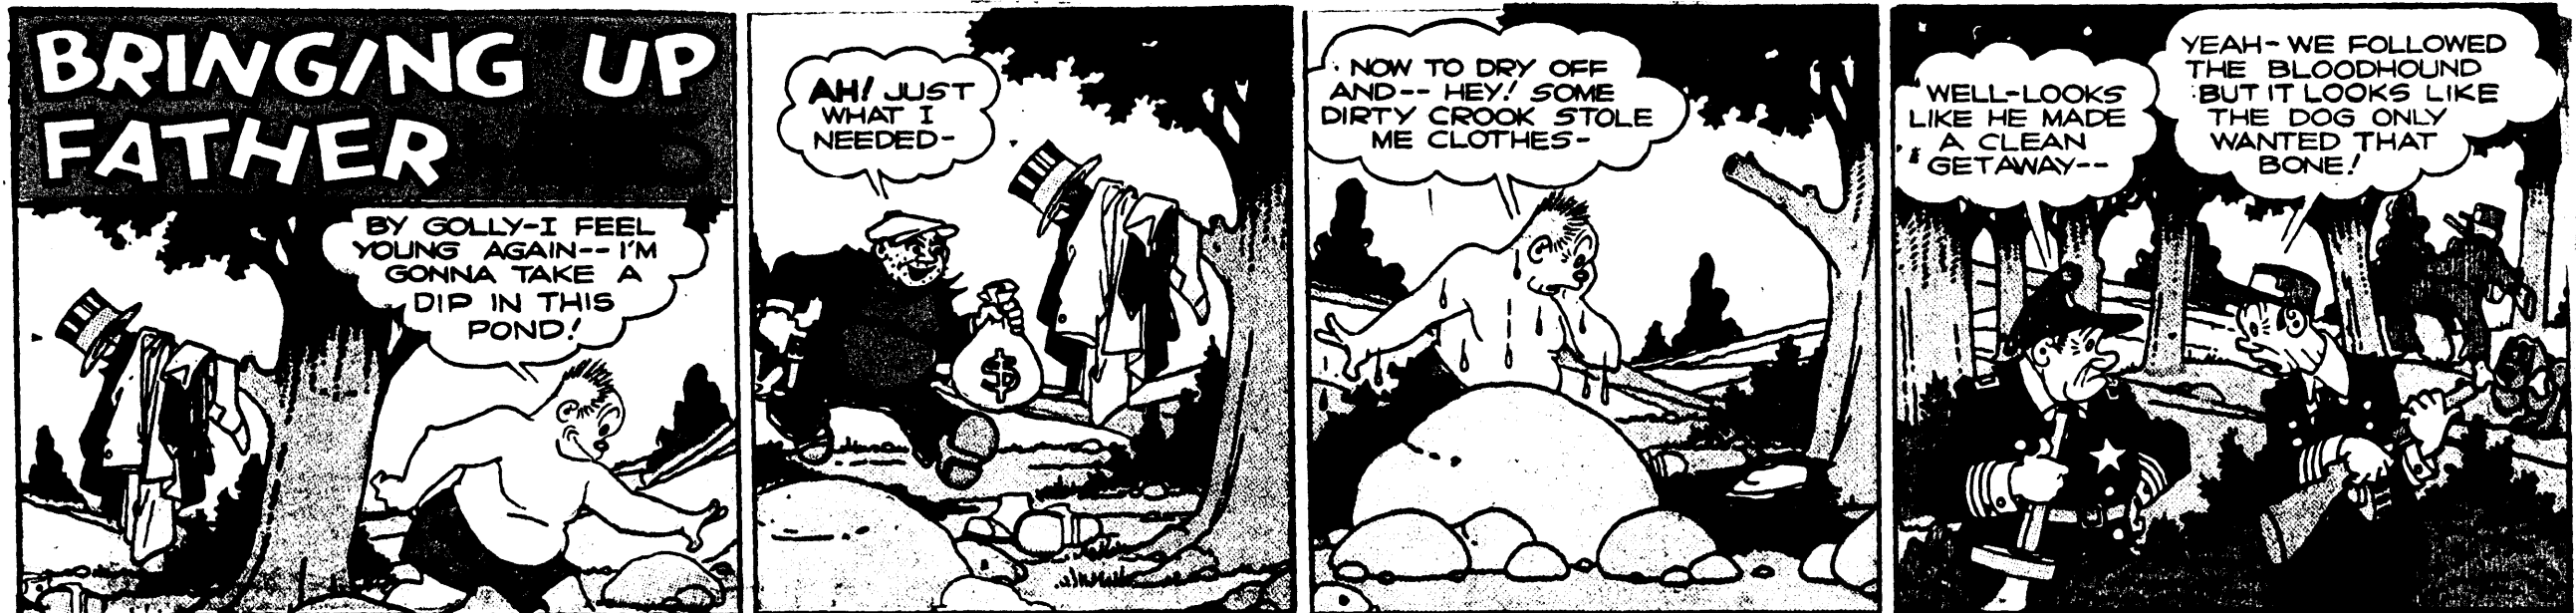

THERE--IN THE REAR-- AN ABANDONED WELL? I'LL BET THAT'S WHERE THE MYSTERIOUS COMMANDER ENTERS!

G-G-GEE, MISTER! WHERE D'D-DID YOU COME FROM?

ME? I WAS HERE ALL TH' TIME... SO YOU'RE O.K., EH? GOOD!

HAROLD GRAY

Young DANIEL'S FAITH

AS DANIEL WAITS FOR KING NEBUCHADNEZZAR'S APPEARANCE, HE THINKS ABOUT THE EVIL FACE HE HAS SEEN... AND THE FACT THAT HE MUST BOW TO THE KING - OR DIE!

HIS THOUGHTS ARE BROKEN BY TWO PAGES, LEAPING INTO THE ROOM LIKE GAZELLES... "BOW DOWN! BOW DOWN! THE KING COMES!"

...AND KING NEBUCHADNEZZAR ENTERS - FOLLOWED BY THE EVIL-FACED MAN DANIEL SAW IN THE WINDOW!

IT IS UT-HAMASH, HIGH PRIEST OF THE PAGAN GOD MERODOCH... "DID YOU NOT HEAR THE COMMAND?" HE SHOUTS! BUT DANIEL HAS MADE HIS DECISION!

"BOW DOWN TO THE KING OF BABYLON! LORD OF THE UNIVERSE!" THE HIGH PRIEST SCREAMS!

"FOR THIS DISOBEDIENCE, I, MYSELF, SHALL THROW YOU INTO THE FIERY MOUTH OF BAAL!"

TELL ME, LAD, WHY DO YOU NOT BOW DOWN TO ME?

WHEN I PRAY TO GOD, I BOW DOWN... AND I CANNOT HONOR ANY MAN - EVEN A KING - AS I HONOR MY GOD.

"BUT THESE - YOUR FRIENDS - ALSO WORSHIP THE SAME GOD," NEBUCHADNEZZAR SAYS... "THEY HONOR ME BY BOWING... WHY IS THIS?"

"THEY HAVE BEEN WARNED IT MEANS DEATH TO REFUSE," DANIEL ANSWERS... "AND IT IS ONLY THEIR FRIGHTENED BODIES THAT HONOR YOU - NOT THEIR HEARTS. BUT I WISHED YOU TO KNOW THE TRUTH IN MY HEART, SO I STOOD!"

JOHN LEWY

BUT NEBUCHADNEZZAR INTERRUPTS THE HIGH PRIEST'S RANTING. "ONE MOMENT, UT-HAMASH. I SHALL SPEAK TO THIS YOUTH MYSELF."

NEXT WEEK -- NEBUCHADNEZZAR'S VERDICT.

MOON MULLINS

by Frank Willard

IT SAYS HERE "MOST ACCIDENTS ON TH' BEACHES HAPPENS TO GUYS TRYIN' TO SHOW OFF IN FRONT OF PRETTY GIRLS."

I'LL SAY! I'LL NEVER FORGET TH' ACCIDENT THAT GUY GIVE YOU FOR TRYIN' TO GET HIS WIFE'S PHONE NUMBER AT TH' BEACH LAST SUMMER.

KAYO, THEM DAMES GOT OFF HERE. YOU MIGHT TRY GETTIN' ACQUAINTED WITH 'EM WHILE I'M GETTIN' INTO MY TRUNKS.

IF A SOCK IN TH' EYE DON'T MEAN NOTHIN' TO YOU-O-KAY.

SO YOUR NAME IS KAYO!

AND I'LL BET YOU CAN SWIM LIKE A FISH.

YEH, BETTER. I CAN SWIM ON MY BACK.

HEY LOOK!

MARVELOUS!

YEH, EVEN ME BROTHER MOON CAN'T DO THAT.

OH, IS THAT SO? IS THAT SO?

GET A LOAD OF THIS KIDS! A BACK FLIP.

ALLEY-

OOP!

GEE! IT TOOK TH' DOC A HOUR TO WAKE YOU UP... YOU SEE YOU HAD OUGHT TO OF STOOD FACIN' TH' OTHER WAY TO DO A BACK FLIP.

AW, TELL ME SOMETHIN' I DON'T KNOW!

WELL... THEM TWO DAMES THOUGHT YOU WAS A NUT.

HEY, DAD, DOWNWIND HAS BEEN TEACHING OUR FLYING CLUB GANG TO FLY!

BUT HE WON'T LET ME SOLO BECAUSE I'M NOT SIXTEEN YET!

WELL, THAT'S THE LAW, JUNGLE JOLLY! SAY, DOWNWIND, I'VE GOTTA TALK TO YOU!

JUNGLE JOLLY FLYING CLUB KIT-BUILT PLANE

THE "MYSTERIOUS STRANGER" WHO WAS LOOKING FOR ME TURNED OUT TO BE THE INSPECTOR!

I'VE BEEN SELECTED FOR AN IMPORTANT MISSION THAT MAY HAVE MILITARY SIGNIFICANCE!

JACK

HOWEVER, AT THE START, IT MUST BE HANDLED ON A CIVILIAN BASIS!

I'M TO GO TO SEATTLE, PRESUMABLY TO WRITE SOME ARTICLES ABOUT TH' NEW MONSTER JET TANKER-TRANSPORT!

THAT IS JUST A COVER-UP JOB FOR MY REAL MISSION... IT'S ALL VERY SECRET!

IF IT'S SO SECRET, JACK... WHY ARE YOU TELLING ME? MMM

BECAUSE YOU HAVE BEEN SELECTED TO BE MY ASSISTANT!

ME? OH— HERE'S THE INSPECTOR NOW!

WHILE YOU TWO ARE IN SEATTLE, YOU WILL BE CONTACTED BY A PROFESSOR KRASNA!

BE PREPARED FOR A SURPRISE WHEN YOU MEET THE PROFESSOR!

KEEP ONE THING IN MIND!

ONCE YOU ESTABLISH CONTACT, YOU ARE TO FOLLOW PROFESSOR KRASNA'S ORDERS EXPLICITLY!

MICKEY MOUSE

"...AND AS I WILL BE AWAY FOR SEVERAL WEEKS, I RELY ON YOU TO WATCH THE HOUSE YOUR LOVING UNCLE-PHINEAS"

IF I'M GONNA STAY IN THAT SPOOKY OLD HOUSE... I'M GONNA BRING THIS ALONG FOR COMPANY!

THERE IT IS! SKEERY AS EVER!

WELL... LET'S SEE IF I CAN GIT ANYTHING!

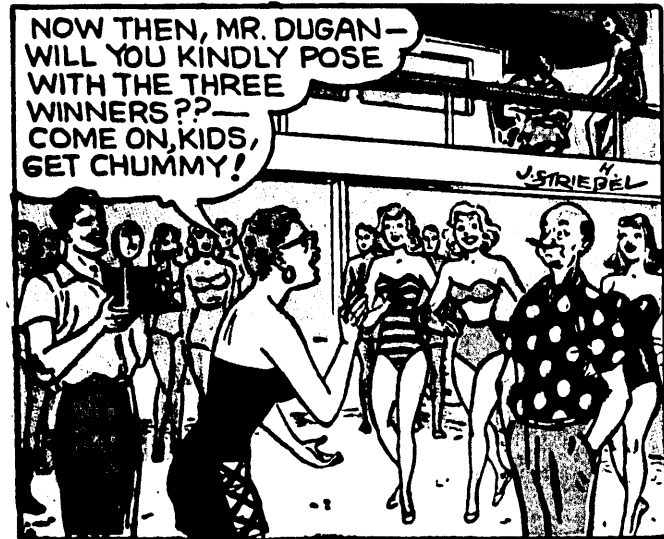

LATER

DON'T WORRY ABOUT IT, GOOFY! I GET GHOSTS IN MY SET ALL THE TIME!

I DIDN'T SAY IN THE SET! I GOT 'EM DANCIN' ON TOP OF THE SET!
